BRITAIN, GERMANY SIGN NEW PACT, CZECH PROBLEM SETTLED

Terms of Agreement At Munich That Averted War In Europe

Here are the provisions of the war-averting plan for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia approved at yesterday's four-power conference in Munich, and agreed to today by the Czechoslovakian government.

In addition to averting a general war, the Munich conference is expected to form the basis for an agreement for lasting European peace.

Here's how the Czechoslovakian problem was solved:

1—Czechoslovakia to evacuate the ceded Sudeten territory beginning tomorrow and to complete the evacuation by Oct. 10, without destroying "existing installations" such as the Sudeten mountain fortifications. An international commission representing the four big powers and Czechoslovakia to lay down conditions for evacuation.

2—Germany to occupy territory by progressive stages: area No. 1 on Oct. 1 and 2; area No. 2 on Oct. 2 and 3; area No. 3 on Oct. 3, 4 and 5; area No. 4 on Oct. 6 and 7. Remaining territories which are predominantly German to be ascertained by the international commission and to be occupied by Oct. 10.

3—The international commission will determine territories in which plebiscites are to be held. International "bodies"—not necessarily troops—will occupy the plebiscite areas until plebiscites are held and will fix plebiscite conditions on the basis of the Saar plebiscite. Plebiscites to be held at a date not later than the end of November, to be fixed by the commission. Minor exchanges of territory to be arranged by the commission. Czechoslovaks in Sudetenland and Germans in Czechoslovakia areas to transfer, if they desire, within six months.

4—Czechoslovakia within four weeks to discharge all Sudeten Germans who wish release from their army and police forces, and to release any Sudetens who are in prison for political offenses.

In an annex, Britain and France undertake to stand by their agreement to guarantee the new Czechoslovak frontiers. Germany and Italy agree to join in this guarantee when the Polish and Hungarian minority problems have been settled.

It is agreed that if the Polish-Hungarian problems are not settled within three months there shall be another four-power conference to discuss them.

The map which the conferees drew to show the areas to be evacuated by Czechoslovakia, and occupied by German troops, within the next 10 days was not released with the agreement.

REJECT WAR FOR CONSULTATION IN FUTURE DEALINGS

Two-Power Agreement Reached After Four Nations Reach Accord On Sudeten Cession; 'Never to Go to War Again.'

BULLETIN

LONDON — Poland has served an ultimatum on Czechoslovakia, demanding an immediate reply to the Polish claim for surrender of the Teschen district, according to reports reaching here today. Bloody encounters between Poles and Czech police and troops were reported from the Teschen border area.

MUNICH — Prime Minister Chamberlain and Reichsfuehrer Hitler today signed an agreement in which they accepted the new four-power Munich pact and the Anglo-German naval treaty of 1936 as "symbolic of the desires of our two peoples never to go to war with one another again."

Announcement of this agreement came after the British leader and the German fuehrer had talked for two hours this morning in Hitler's private residence with only Paul Schmidt, Hitler's interpreter, present.

The new Anglo-German peace pact came within a few hours of the signature of the four-power pact assuring Europe of peace at the price of cession of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland to Germany.

Chamberlain also announced the Czechoslovak government's acceptance of the Munich accord, providing for the occupation of the Sudetenland over a ten-day period, beginning tomorrow.

He said that the international commission which is to supervise the Czechoslovak evacuation from the area was meeting in Berlin today and would go into the Sudeten area tomorrow.

Chamberlain said the Prague government's acceptance was conveyed to him by the British minister to Czechoslovakia.

Even as the two statesmen framed their new compact against war an international commission was working to carry out terms of the arrangement reached in yesterday's historic sessions in the Fuehrerhaus here.

The Anglo-German agreement, announced by Chamberlain, follows:

"We, the German fuehrer and chancellor and the British prime minister, have had a further meeting today and are agreed in recognizing that the question of Anglo-German relations is of first importance for the two countries and for Europe.

"We regard the agreement signed last night and the Anglo-German naval agreement as symbolic of the desires of our two peoples never to go to war

'Thanks' Says Henlein In Wire To Hitler

BERLIN—(INS)—Konrad Henlein, leader of the German Sudetens in Czechoslovakia, today dispatched a message of gratitude to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler. "We thank you for the freedom you have won us," his telegram said.

JURY VOTES 35 INDICTMENTS IN RECORD SESSION

Two of Secret True Bills Said to Involve Woman Driver Who Hit Two Boys.

The Richland county grand jury returned 35 indictments, the largest number reported by a grand jury in many months, at the end of a two-day session late yesterday in which 38 cases were considered.

Fourteen of the indictments were secret, and county authorities said the nature of the charges would not be made public until the accused persons are under arrest.

It was learned, however, on good authority, that two of the secret indictments involve a traffic accident near Mansfield Sept. 9 when Lester and Paul Baker, brothers, were seriously injured when struck by a car driven by Mrs. Walter F Howell, Mansfield. Officers said Mrs. Howell drove past a standing school bus, injuring the two small boys.

Cleared in Traffic Death.

The jury cleared Newton C. Thomas of responsibility for the death of Raymond Bull, 19, of near Fredericktown, in an automobile accident near Shelby three weeks ago. Thomas was the driver of a car which turned over, killing Bull.

Forty-four witnesses were examined by the jurors during the two-day session. Amos Day, jury foreman, reported. The jury refused to indict in three cases.

Indictments were returned against seven men who are said to be members of a "ring" which burglarized freight cars of automobile tires and sold the tires to "distributors" in Mansfield.

Named in the tire theft cases were Daniel Inscore, Christ Chokreff, David Amato, James Baker and Clayton Baldwin, charged with receiving stolen tires; Charles Brooks, burglary ,and Love Jacobs, petit larceny.

Four colored youths who admitted taking most of the tires from freight cars were sent to the Mansfield reformatory and the

Parley That Saved Peace, Dismembered Czechoslovakia

Here is a picture, rushed from Munich to America, showing the momentous conference in the Fuehrerhaus there at which the peace of Europe was saved at the expense of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland. The four conferees—each a leader of one of Europe's most powerful nations—are (left to right) Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, at whose insistence the conference was arranged; Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, Premier Edouard Daladier of France and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain.

OHIO GIVEN 15 DAYS TO SHIFT PENSION SET-UP

Federal Board Temporarily Orders $2,576,000 Withheld From State.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The social security board today decided to temporarily withhold $2,576,000 in old age pension grants to the state of Ohio.

The board's decision follows a long controversy with the administration of Gov. Martin L. Davey over the administration of old age assistance in Ohio, and charges that Davey had used the set-up for political purposes.

Takes Stern Attitude.

Although officials insisted the suspension of payments was temporary the board assumed a stern attitude and gave Gov. Davey until Oct. 15 to make readjustments in the old aged division for Ohio. The date was chosen as the deadline in view of a substantial amount of old age payments which would be allocated at that time providing Gov. Davey complies with the board's recommendation for a sweeping change in the administration of the old age division of Ohio.

The decision followed a lengthy investigation of the Ohio situation. The board found Gov. Davey, and officials of the division guilty of "political considerations" in hiring personnel, and "failure to establish adequate basic policies and procedures," with respect to recipients of old aged payments.

The action of the board was its answer to Davey's challenge to stop the payments which climaxed the long dispute between the governor and the board.

Included in the board's finding were:

1. "There has been a lack of effective administrative direction and control of the agency.

2. "There has been repeated interference with orderly procedures by the governor.

3. "The personnel provisions of the Ohio old age assistance plan have not been complied with and there has been wholesale violation of the Ohio civil service laws and rules.

4. "There have been serious and excessive delays in the handling of applications for assistance."

JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO MSGR. GOEBEL

Parish and City Honor Pastor of St. Peter's at Reception Attended by 1,000.

Mansfield Catholics and non-Catholics last night joined in honoring the Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church and the city's first priest ever to be invested as domestic prelate.

Combining reverence, friendship and humor, Mansfield civic leaders and members of Msgr. Goebel's parish paid tribute to him at a reception in the St. Peter's church hall where 1,000 persons heard him praised for his service to his church and to the city.

Msgr. Goebel, who celebrated the silver jubilee of his ordination two years ago this month, was invested with the robes of prelate and the title of monsignor by the Most Rev. Karl J. Alter, bishop of Toledo, at ceremonies in Toledo Wednesday. The honor was conferred by Pope Pius XI.

Speakers last night were Mayor Claude M. Hunter, Henry G Brunner, Ohio manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation; Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. T. J. McDermott and Roger H. Bolin, representing the men and women of the parish. Joseph E. Kuebler, grand knight of the Knights of Columbus, was chairman of the reception.

In the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goebel, of Edgerton,

'Peace Worth the Price', Chamberlain Tells World

Great Britain's Premier, Happy Over Pact, Lists Hitler's Demands, What He Gets.

(By Associated Press)

MUNICH—Prime Minister Chamberlain, a white-faced old man with a joyous light in his eyes, came out of the house that Hitler built today convinced that peace was worth the price.

"It's all signed," he said. "It's all right."

Following are his terse comparisons of what Hitler demanded and what he gets under the four-power agreement:

Demanded—Evacuation by the Czechoslovak army and police forces and officials of a wide area of Sudetenland by Oct. 1, without removal of any properties.

Granted—Evacuation of an area roughly corresponding to what he asked for by Oct. 10, without destruction "of any existing installations."

Granted — Occupation of four

BRICKER CALLS FOR 'CLEAN-UP'

Tells 1,200 at Opening G. O. P. Rally Ohio Could Save Millions Annually.

Firing a salvo at the present state administration with the assertion that millions could be saved annually in the liquor and highway departments, John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor, called upon an audience of 1,200 here last night to "clean up this mess we are in in Ohio."

Bricker headed a group of speakers running for county, district and state offices who spoke as Richland county Republicans opened their fall campaign with a rally in their new headquarters on North Main street. The spacious hall was filled and others who could not be accommodated inside heard the speeches over a public address system.

Cheers greeted Bricker's assertion that "millions could be saved in the liquor department that should rightfully go to Ohio's aged, and that other thousands could be saved in the highway and welfare departments."

"You can see countless state employes riding the highways in automobiles, inspecting this and checking that, and they don't know the least thing about what they are doing," he said

"No man who can't hold a job in private industry has a place in public office. A great service could be rendered by the civil service commission of Ohio by kicking out

PRAGUE: Czechs Angered By Desertion of Friends, Submit

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(INS Staff Correspondent)

PRAGUE—Stunned and incredulous, Czechoslovakia bowed to the sword today and accepted with grave misgivings the four-power decision allowing Germany to enter the Sudetenland beginning tomorrow.

Faced with no alternative in view of the agreement signed "without and against her," Czechoslovakia announced her surrender, but even the sturdiest Czechs were staggered by what they are certain is nothing less than a fatal blow to their national existence.

There is not one who can be persuaded that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's troops will not eventually attempt to occupy the entire country instead of the Sudetenland alone.

Public excitement mounted as the news of the agreement spread. Crowds poured into the streets in front of newspaper offices excitedly discussing it.

"Time-table strangulation" was Czechoslovakia's description of the Munich pact.

Bitterest of all to the Czechs is the knowledge they have been forced to their knees not by an open enemy but by so-called friends who not only deserted them but forbade them to lift a finger to defend themselves.

BLOWS IN SNOW

New Storm Gives New York a Sample of Winter.

NEW YORK—(INS)—New York got ready for another "big blow" today as the disturbed atmospheric conditions which brought a triple tornado to South Carolina moved up along the Atlantic coast.

The storm here arrived as rain which suddenly changed to snow to give the city its first premature taste of winter.

The weather bureau reported that the disturbance this morning was 100 miles off the coast of Maryland and moving northeast but slowly decreasing in density.

The center of the storm was expected to pass east of Nantucket late this afternoon or tonight. Northeast gales reported along the coast from the Virginia capes to New York and along the New England capes would, it was believed, shift to north and northwest and diminish as the day wore on.

Horse Show Cancelled as 'Flu' Breaks Out Among City Entries

A lot of fancy saddle horses in Ohio and Michigan were all dressed up with no place to go today as the result of the Raemelton Riding club calling off its horse show which was to have been held Sunday at Raemelton farm.

Announcement that the show had been indefinitely postponed was made last night by President James Bailey when it was learned that several Mansfield horses were "down" with influenza and running high temperatures. The disease is just as communicable among horses as among humans, Bailey said, explaining that the club deemed it unwise to permit expensive show horses to be brought into the city and be exposed to it.

Cancellation of the event only two days before the show caused a flurry of activity among officers of the club today as telephone and telegraph messages had to be sent to stables that had entered horses in the events. One of the exhibition highlights was to be the crack team of Cleveland mounted police, national winners at the Chicago fair and runners-up at Madison Square garden.

Silver trophies had been purchased and engraved, ribbon awards were ready, and probably a dozen private parties for out-of-town guests had been arranged by Mansfield hostesses who were interested in the show.

Bailey said that it was too late in the season to plan another show for this year but that possibly a spring or summer show would be arranged for next year.

A number of tickets and boxes for the show had been sold and money will be refunded on these if holders contact the persons from whom they were purchased, Bailey said.

City Finds Temporary Relief Fund Solution In Credit Plan

City officials today had cleared the way for the financing of the city's relief load—at least temporarily—by the issuance of notes against the anticipated collection of state taxes without any actual outlay of funds.

Meeting with state relief officials in Columbus yesterday, they received the sanction of that office to "go ahead" with a credit plan of financing and submit it to the state for approval.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist who headed the Mansfield delegation said the plan verbally approved by the state, calls for the city to list all state money spent for relief this year, including that anticipated to be spent, which in turn will be used to match state funds available through the issuance of notes against approximately $60,000 in state tax receipts through 1942.

Acting to obtain the funds immediately to meet unpaid relief bills which have reached $50,000, Nist called upon City Solicitor

SALARY HELD UP

31 Lawyer-Examiners in Ohio Offices Hit by Order.

COLUMBUS—(INS) — Thirty-one attorney' examiners in nine state departments went without pay today on orders of Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy, who claimed that they were not legally employed by the state.

Twenty-eight examiners were named on Sept. 16 and today Duffy added three more names to the list, in what State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said was a patronage move on Duffy's part. Ferguson asserted that Duffy desired to place his own appointees in the positions.

Meanwhile, Ferguson said, there have been rumblings of discontent over Duffy's move, but no court action has been taken by any of the "purged" employes to stop their pay from being held up.

BERLIN: First Nazi Troops To Cross Border at Midnight

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN — German military units were ready down to the last mess kit and polished bootstrap today to goose-step into neighboring Czechoslovakia.

Sources close to the war ministry disclosed — before little Czechoslovakia had had a chance to say yes or no to a four-power scheme to satisfy Adolf Hitler by giving him parts of Czechoslovakia—that the German caissons would roll tomorrow along the southwestern Czech frontier north of Passau and Linz.

Thus the beginning would be from territory that was Austrian before Nazi Germany annexed it March 13.

Beginning at midnight, the German soldiers will cross the Czechoslovak frontier in the Krumau region along the old Austro-German border. This section is the least important of the entire Sudetenland from an economic viewpoint.

The second one, to be occupied Sunday and Monday, includes the rich Elbe river valley and parts of the "Saxon Swiss" mountains. In it are big industrial cities, several mining regions and the famous Teplit-Schoenau spa.

This area also includes part of the fortifications the Czechs built to defend themselves from Germany. All of the much-discussed Czech fortifications are within territories which Germany is to take over under the Munich plan.

The second one also contains the Erz mountains, which Czechoslovakia has considered her natural boundary.

The third district is a rich industrial and farming region, including the three spas, Karlsbad, Marienbad and Franzensbad.

The last district also embraces some of the Silesian frontier mountains, with manufacturing and mining predominating.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

ARRIVAL OF OCTOBER STEPS UP ACTIVITIES

JUST about everyone in Mansfield is back home from vacation jaunts, and the arrival of Oct. 1 seems to be the signal for the beginning of club activities all over the city. Important news of tomorrow will be two weddings. The couples are Miss Juanita Holloway and Delwin Witman, and Miss Lucile Laycock and George Grega.

Continuing the nuptial flavor will be the marriage Sunday of Miss Bettie Fichter and Roland Flowers at the First Christian church. Equal in attracting social interest within the city and from neighboring communities will be the horse show to be sponsored Oct. 2 at Raemelton Farms by the Raemelton Riding club.

Without letting up one bit on the interesting events for the first week of October, Monday will see the oftmentioned joint study club luncheon, at which Spencer Irwin will speak, take place, and the first meeting of the Music Study club at the hotel.

Tuesday and Wednesday are destined to be gala club days, with the Mansfield Sorosis, the Tuesday Book club, the Audubon club, Chi Sigma and Alpha Pi Sigma planning sessions for Oct. 5, and Sappho club, the Wednesday Study club and several of the social card clubs having meetings Oct. 6.

On Thursday the Women's association of the First Congregational church will entertain at their first affair, and a number of groups of the First Presbyterian church also are to meet.

Friday will see all of the garden clubs in session, a tea by the Mansfield Federation of Women, and regular meetings of the Art Study club and the Jared Mansfield chapter of the D. A. R.

This first week in October points indicatively to a winter jammed with exciting affairs filled with social and cultural interest for the club women and leaders in the community.

Three Young Musicians Give Concert Before 600 at Church

AN AUDIENCE of more than 600 persons, the largest to attend a student music recital in Mansfield in several years, expressed its appreciation of Mansfield talent last night when three young musicians were presented at First Congregational church.

Florence MacDonald presented Jack Wilson, tenor, and Jane Wilson, soprano, brother and sister who will be heard this winter on the Fred Waring broadcasts, and Marie Marks Porterfield presented Jean Seybold, 18-year-old pianist who has already been distinguished by a French conservatory scholarship.

The singers' program was made up of classical and secular numbers, with groups in French, German and Italian, and each singing a group of well-known English and American numbers. Young Wilson's tenor voice, which at times approaches baritone, was at its best in the Dichterliebe group and in the "La Boheme" aria, although his most popular numbers were the Pagliacci song and "I Heard a Forest Playing."

Miss Wilson included the lovely Brahms lullaby and aria from "Mignon" and "La Boheme" among her numbers. Her best numbers, from the entertainment standpoint, however, were Arditi's "Il Bacio," with its gay trills; "The Spirit Flower" and "Indian Love Call."

Miss Seybold amazed her audience with the brilliance of her work, her fingering, her touch and her interpretation being those of a far more mature player. She played Scarlatti's sonatas in D minor and G major, and sweeping "Malaguena" by Lecuona. For an encore, she played a Debussy number.

All three of the talented artists leave this week for work elsewhere. The two Wilsons leave Sunday for New York City where they will be in the Waring show, and Miss Seybold returns to Ohio State university to resume her studies. She will have the advantage of a summer at Fontainbleau as she continues to major in piano.

COUNTY TAX PAYMENT GOES TO 95 PER CENT

Only $46,696 of Current Bill Unpaid, Kolb Says; $103,000 in Delinquencies Paid.

Despite the business recession, Richland countians paid $1,195,065 of their 1937 real estate tax bill, or 95 per cent of the total amount due, County Treasurer John E. Kolb said today.

Considered an usually good collection in an year, the 1937 receipts, collected since last March, include $621,746 on the first half year charge and $573,319 on the second.

Only $46.696 was left unpaid on the current charge and will be carried over to next year's books as delinquent, the treasurer said.

$106 in Delinquencies Paid.

The county collected $106,653 in delinquent taxes during the year, reducing the total delinquents to $304,179, Kolb's figures showed. Of that amount, $144,585 is owed by property owners in Mansfield and $159,593 outside the city.

The uncollected tax bill includes $192,121 in real estate taxes and $112,057 in special assessments, which are also collected on real property. The net reduction in the total delinquent tax bill during the year was $59,957, representing the difference between the back taxes collected during the year and the $46,696 which the county failed to collect on the 1937 charge.

YOUNGEST PRIEST

Youth 23 Ordained by Special Dispensation of Pope.

SYDNEY, Australia—(INS)—Australia claims the distinction of having the youngest Roman Catholic priest in the world. He is Rev. Father John Leonard, of Sydney, who has just been ordained. Father Leonard is not yet 23 and the canonical age for ordination is 24. He was ordained by special dispensation of the Pope.

Books For Children

* * *

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

How many children have ever wondered if animals have birthday parties? We know of one who did!

Audrey Chalmers has written and illustrated a delightfully amusing little book called "Birthday of Obash." Obash was a baby hippopotamus, who lived in the zoo. He had a very nice mother and a comfortable home, but no one even thought of giving him a birthday party, so—he ran away.

After scaring everyone he met, almost out of their wits, he met a very understanding family. There was Mr. Frizzlewit, Mrs. Frizzlewit, the Twins, the Trips, and Theodosius. We won't spoil the story by telling too much, but Obash did have a party and it was a great success.

The production and milling of wheat in Czechoslovakia have increased to the point that flour imports have been virtually eliminated.

BEAVERS QUALIFY FOR FEDERAL JOBS, BUILD DAMS FOR U. S.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam soon will be using beavers to build dams in Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming.

The paddle-tailed animals have been "employed" on dam-construction work for two years in Idaho. Each of 200 beavers, according to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, performed $200 worth of labor that cost the government only $8.

The beavers were trapped in areas that could be harmed by the beavers' instinctive dam-building. The animals were freed in streams that were to be dammed. The beavers immediately began spanning the streams with dams of wood and mud.

These dams, Ickes reported, prevented excessive silting and erosion. The work was so effective—and inexpensive—the government will extend its activities.

Large-scale operations, Ickes said, will reduce from $8 to $5 the cost of catching and transporting each beaver.

Original plans for "employing" the wild beavers were precipitated several years ago, according to a report submitted by the division of grazing at Boise, Ida.

"In the early days of the northwest," the report said, "beavers were plentiful and their pelts formed one of the greatest sources of revenue for the Indians and early day settlers.

"After the animals were trapped out, the streams had nothing to check the silt in the spring runoff. Consequently, gullies were washed through the surrounding meadows and drained the water reserve table lower. As a result of this, and also overgrazing on the surrounding hills, the once-productive meadows became dry, barren and more or less waste land.

"A few years ago the idea was conceived to attempt to transplant a few colonies of beavers in one of our most eroded streams. We carried them in for miles by hand to get them started. In a few years they have performed almost a miracle."

BLOSSOMS APLENTY

PORT HURON, Mich.—(INS)—A 17-year-old scarlet geranium plant in the Blue water Gardens here had 2,225 blossoms this year. The plant, now 12 feet tall, is owned by Clinton R. Cameron.

The first woman to hold the certified public accountant degree in Florida was Miss Mary Luella Richey, assistant professor of accounting at Florida State college.

HOMEGROWN GRAPES SCARCE BUT CALIFORNIA CROP'S PLENTIFUL

If there is a dearth of grape jelly and grape juice in Mansfield cellers this winter, there's a reason: Concord grapes are unusually scarce this fall, and therefore expensive, because of weather conditions early in the summer.

But while the home-grown vintage is limited, there is an abundance of California grapes in several varieties.

The variety of breakfast fruits is rather limited right now as the cantaloupe season nears an end and grapefruits are not at their best. There are still a few melons and the imported honeydews.

It is also near the end for plums. The season was about two weeks early this year and therefore both damzons and prunes are almost gone.

For the week-end there will be strawberries, red raspberries, pineapples, winter watermelons, and some peaches.

The supply of fresh vegetables, however, is as tempting and varied as ever. While outdoor tomatoes are growing scarce, the hothouse variety is coming in. Endive, bleached and crisp, is a tempting item at produce markets and there is no end to "greens" for cooking, such as mustard greens, kale and spinach.

Pumpkins for pies are seen everywhere and there are several varieties of squash. Lima beans, California green peas, little green onions, celery, radishes, egg plant, brussel sprouts and green beans offer suggestions for menus.

CITY RICH IN MEMORIALS OF PIONEER EVENTS

Indian Treaty at Greenville Significant in Settlement of Northwest Territory.

(By Associated Press)

GREENVILLE, O.—The "City of Monuments"—that's Greenville, steeped in pioneer history and the center of a rich agricultural district.

Participation recently by this city of 7,500 in the celebration of the founding of the northwest territory recalled to historically-minded residents that but for a significant Indian treaty, settlement of the territory might have been delayed for years.

Here it was that 143 years ago the power of Indian tribes in the midwest was broken by Gen. "Mad Anthony" Wayne, a fearless fighter who vanquished the redmen after the disastrous defeat of Gen. Arthur St. Clair at Fort Recovery.

Great Stronghold.

General Wayne worked out of Greenville, which was known then as Fort Greene Ville. Wayne erected the fort in the heart of the present city and it was one of the west's great strongholds.

When he had finally subdued the warring Indians, he called 90 chiefs representing 11 tribes to a peace council. On Aug. 3, 1795, they all signed the great treaty of Greenville, which opened the way for the signing in later years of other treaties which compensated the Indian for land taken over by the white man.

The Greenville treaty gave the Indians $20,000 in goods and an annual payment of $9,500 and gave the northwest territory pioneers the right to settle much of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

A boulder on Main street, just off the public square, marks the exact place where the treaty was signed. It is one of the many historical monuments which dot this typically rural city and give it the name, "City of Monuments."

Other monuments to various American soldiers and Indian Chief Tecumseh are scattered about the town, once the focal point of Indian villages.

Just north of Greenville a monument designates the birthplace of Annie Oakley, or "Watanic Cecilia," as the Indians called her, the greatest woman rifle shot in history.

Greenville is further distinguished as being the birthplace of Commander Zachary Lansdowne of the ill-fated Shenandoah, and Enoch Seitz, internationally known mathematician.

SEES DISH WASHING PROVIDING NEXT MAJOR ELECTRICAL MARKET

Washing the nation's dishes simply and economically with electric washers will provide the next major market for the electrical industry, S. G. Fisher of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, predicted today.

He saw a potential one million customers a year when the public is made conscious of the convenience of washing the dishes by machinery.

Fisher, head of the company's dishwasher sales department, said a survey by Electrical Merchandising, a trade journal, showed that despite the almost universal dread of "doing the dishes," less than one-half of one per cent of the nation's 29,000,000 homes have electric washers.

"In millions of homes, dishwashing is the only kitchen task in which no improvement or labor-saving methods have been introduced since people began living in houses," Fisher said. "A reference in the Bible describes dishwashing in much the same manner in which it is done today," he added.

A number of architects and builders are already showing an electric dishwasher in plans for new homes and the use of the appliance is the next logical addition to the complete, up-to-date kitchen, the Westinghouse official said.

He pointed out that the Westinghouse company is planning a campaign to acquaint housewives with the simple and economical manner in which dishes can be cleaned by electricity and take more of the drudgery out of housework.

Rams Invade Crestline Tonight; Shelby, Galion Open NCO Skeds

Madison Seeks 3rd Straight Victory Against New Foe Under Lights.

By CHARLES MARTIN

MADISON high's powerful grid machine invades Crestline to tackle Merle Hutson's team under the lights at 8 p. m. today.

The green-uniformed Madison aggregation, fresh from its impressive 69-13 triump over New London last week, will toss its full strength into tonight's melee in an effort to register its third straight victory.

Coach Al Fendrick's chief worry today was a plan to halt Phil Ganni, Crestline's flashy back, who carries the bulk of the club's offense.

Ganni, who will be remembered by Mansfield boxing fans by his appearance on several amateur cards here, has been running wild this season.

Madison this year has one of the strongest clubs ever to represent the school. In two games the team has piled up 129 points while holding opponents to 25. The club has waded through both foes with ease, but may run into trouble tonight.

Crestline will have a real job cut out for it tonight in halting the Rams' two backs, Gene Harmon and Joe Miller, and Bill Wilkins, an end, whose pass snagging has been a feature of the club's play.

* * *

OVER in Shelby, a record crowd is expected tonight for the Whippets' opening N. C. O. conference tussle of the season with Mt. Vernon.

Represented by one of the strongest teams in recent years, Shelby's championship hopes will undoubtedly be determined in this game. Coach Bill Query's men will go into the game with a perfect defensive record.

In the other N. C. O. game tonight, Galion is host to Ashland. The Orangemen won the championship last year and rank as favorites in this seasons' race.

Illini Frosh Star Signed By K-B Team

Bill Hall Expected to Add Blocking Strength.

Bill Hall, former freshman football star at the University of Illinois, joined the ranks of the Kallmerten and Baer semi-pro squad today as the team prepared for the invasion of the touted Struthers A. C. club, Sunday, at League park.

The addition of Hall, a 215-pound blocking back, provides Coach "Gip" Miller with some of the blocking he needs to strengthen the club's running and passing attack. Hall dropped out of college shortly after the beginning of his sophomore year.

The Coals displayed considerable power last Sunday, but their woefully weak blocking was responsible for the team's setback. The Detroit outfit tallied the winning touchdown in the fourth period after blocking a punt.

During most of the game the Coals' passers and kickers were rushed and now with Hall at the blocking post, Vern Heiser is expected to have more time in spotting his receivers and giving Mansfield a dangerous aerial attack.

Not much is known concerning the strength of the visiting club, but from all reports the team packs a real attack. The Struthers' lineup is studded with former college and high school stars.

The Miller coached machine will be at full strength Sunday as it attempts to chalk up its first victory.

SUSPENSION ON PADLOW LIFTED BY PRO PREXY

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Max Padlow, former Ohio State U. end now playing with the Dayton Rosies of the American pro league, has been freed of a five-year suspension from the National pro football league, Joe Carr, president of the National loop, said today. He ruled Padlow now on the Philadelphia Eagles' reserve list. Padlow was suspended in 1936 for "jumping" a Philadelphia contract to play with the Cleveland Rams of the old American league. Carr said Padlow was "up against it" and had been punished enough.

Kochheiser Sports Compile 2838 Total

Office Cafe Gains Undisputed Lead by Blanking Satterlee Team In Commercial League.

THE Kochheiser Sports manufactured a 2838 total to annex scoring honors in the Commercial B league at the Meder alleys last night. Led by Young's 214-223-213—650, the Sports, with scores of 912, 979 and 947, won two games from the Mansfield Rugs, who blasted out a 2805 with Linster's 599 high.

The Heilman Grocers were next high in the scoring with a 2828 total. Bechtel rolled a 609 to lead the Grocers, who won only one game from the Burghardt Cafes.

Vern Jones came through with a 619 to lead the Office Cafe to three victories over the Satterlee Restaurant and undisputed possession of first place.

The Mansfield Printers, with Warren, 604, leading the way to a 2736, swept their series with the Ringside Cafe the Shelby Cycles, paced by Hazlewood's 623, took three from the Met's Auto Supplies to hold second place and the Yuncker Sports took a pair from Ohio Public Service in the other matches.

Hank Ends Bid In Cleveland

Needs Two in Three Games to Tie Ruth Record.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Neither the Cleveland Indians nor Detroit Tigers were going anywhere in particular in the American league but their final series opening today held interest because of the batting prowess of a veteran and a youngster — Hank Greenberg of Detroit and Jeff Heath of Cleveland.

The big Tiger first baseman needed two home runs in the last three games of the season here to tie Babe Ruth's 1927 round trip record of 60.

The Indian outfielder, completing his first full season in the major leagues, collected three hits in five times at bat Thursday as the Indians nosed out Chicago, 9 to 8, in 10 innings. One of the blows was a home run for the youngster who seems certain to finish among the league's top batsmen for the season.

Inasmuch as Boston won Thursday, Cleveland lost the last mathematical chance to finish in second place when the season closes Sunday.

Jitter-Bucs In Last Stand Against Reds

Offered Little Chance to Overtake Chicago.

By DREW MIDDLETON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Everyone is sounding off about the Cincinnati Reds being the team to beat next year, but it looks as if they'll have plenty to say in the National league these next four days.

The Pirates lost another to the Cubs yesterday, a 10 to 1 beating that set them a game and a half behind the league leading Cubs. The Jitter-Bucs now go into a four-game series with the Reds at Cincinnati.

Go to St. Louis.

The Cubs will be playing three games in St. Louis. If the Cubs win all three, the Pirates can't catch up. If Chicago drops one and Pittsburgh wins all four of its starts, including today's double-header, the Pirates will win by a single percentage point.

The Reds got into shape for the Pirates yesterday by beating the Cardinals, 7-4. Johnny Vander Meer chalked up his 14th win of the year as Ernie Lombardi collected a double and a single to regain the league batting lead.

The Bees' Danny MacFayden gave the Dodgers nine hits and won the first game of a double bill, 2-1, but the Brooks came back with an eight-run second inning and took the nightcap, 8-6. The Giants, starting to hit again, pounded out 13 hits and beat the Phillies, 9-2.

Slap A's Around.

In the American league the Yanks slapped the Athletics down, 7-4, in the first game and then tied the second, 1-1. Bob Johnson of the A's knocked two homers in the first game to boost his total to 30.

The Red Sox beat the Senators, 13-5. The Tigers downed the Browns, 6-2, and the Cleveland Indians shaded the White Sox, 9-8, on Roy Weatherly's tenth-inning homer.

Harriers Face State Champs

Mansfield Meets Akron East Here Saturday.

Victorious over Fremont Ross in their first start, the Mansfield high school harriers will meet the defending state champions of Akron East in a cross country meet here Saturday.

Coach Harry Mehock said today that the meet will be concluded in Stadium field, probably at the end of the first period of the Tygers' football game with Hammond, Ind.

East has attained great success in the running sport under Coach Larry Ricker, former Mansfielder. East's first team, organized by Ricker in 1931, finished third in the state meet. In 1934, he coached the Orientals to the state title. The following two years his teams finished second in the state competition, but last year he again came back with a squad that won city, district and state laurels. Ricker has seven lettermen back this year.

Mehock's chief hopes in Saturday's meet are Bob Donnan and Earl Bates, who finished one-two in the Fremont meet.

Hope to Make Amends For Massillon Defeat

Changes to Mark Mansfield Lineup for Tussle With Hoosiers at Stadium.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

DENIED a chance to partake of choice victory meat last week by a stubborn crew of Massillon pigskin toters, Mansfield's touchdown-hungry Tygers poised in their lair today to spring on the Pioneers' football caravan from Hammond, Ind., due at Stadium field at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Their appetites whetted by four days of strenuous work on the practice gridiron, Coach Russ Murphy's Tygers are primed for the intersectional tussle with the Hoosiers in which they hope to make amends for the tanning administered by the defending state champions.

Tygers Show Improvement.

A victory may be difficult to obtain in the soiree Saturday, but Murphy, encouraged by the improvement shown by his stalwarts this week, expects the Tygers to present a more formidable front than they did against Massillon.

Lehr.

The unseasoned Tygers came out of the Massillon encounter well marked by bruises and bumps, and, although the majority are ready for another taste of action, the lineup will include a number of changes.

Murphy, dissatisfied with last week's performance in several departments, plans to insert new faces into the lineup Saturday in an attempt to strengthen the touchdown machine.

Seven starting lineup changes are planned by Murphy for Saturday. Only Joe Lehr, Harold Gallagher, Ed Goettle and Capt. Rich Nagle will be in their usual posts.

Russ Beer and Bill Russell will start at the ends, Bob Murray and Lehr, tackles; Marshall Smith and Goettle, guards; Gallagher, center, and Grover Swoyer, Harold LeMunyon, Howard Hershey and Nagle, backs.

Murphy said today that there is also a possibility that Goettle may be on the sidelines at the kickoff due to an arm injury. If the hurt does not respond to treatment before Saturday, Bob Guegold will go to his guard position.

Dick McMullen and Mike Horvath are not likely to see action against Hammond due to the aggravation of their early season injuries in the Massillon tiff.

Victorious in two of their three games with Indiana and Illinois foes, Hammond's Pioneers loom as dangerous foes for the Tygers.

Hammond's lone defeat was administered by East Chicago, while the triumphs were registered at the expense of Ellwood, Ind., and Kankakee, Ill.

It was Kankakee that the Pioneers met last week, and they came through with an impressive 32 to 6 victory to establish themselves as contenders for sectional honors.

Hammond also started the season with a green lineup, but it has improved rapidly under Coach Vern Taylor's tuteledge, and promise plenty of competition for their future foes, according to reports from the Indiana city.

In Frank Shimala, Hammond is reported to own one of the better halfbacks in Hoosierland. He has a capable assistant in Frank Fisher, who also is light of foot.

Line Holds Up.

The Hoosiers' line has held up well in all games except the East Chicago tilt in which their goal was crossed three times from the ground. Neither Ellwood nor Kankakee made yardage through the forwards on running plays.

Heading the list of linemen Taylor will throw against the Tygers is Capt. Fech, who tips the Toledos at 260 pounds.

The Hammond squad of 26 players was to arrive in the city early this afternoon via bus. It is scheduled to loosen up at Stadium field at 5 p. m.

Only WOLVERINE Safety Shoes

Have SOLES and UPPERS Both Made of SHELL Horsehide!

KEEP your feet comfortable and they'll do their part to keep you SAFE. Tired, aching feet are a common cause of body fatigue that invite accidents—but feet that wear Wolverines are HAPPY feet, ready and eager to keep their owner "on-his-toes" against mishaps.

Steel Toe Caps are built into Wolverine Safety Shoes—but what's MORE important is that EXTRA shell of safety that forms the center layer of Shell Horsehide. Wolverine is the ONLY Safety Shoe with soles and uppers BOTH made of this 3-ply leather. And Wolverine has an EXCLUSIVE triple-tanning formula that makes them feel soft as gloves on your feet. Come in—try on a pair!

Candies Pace Women's Loop

Linster and Hilborn Tie for Individual Honors.

The Shelby Candies rolled out a 1960 total to hold the spotlight in the Women's bowling league at the Meder alleys last night. Hager, 447; Dintaman, 440, and Hilborn, 427, were high as the Candies won a pair from the Richland Printers. Linster had a 472 for the losers.

McMullen, with a 472, led the Morgan Dry Cleaners to a 1931 total and a sweep over Harvey's Sample Shoes. The Office Cafe won two games from the Moderne Beauty Shoppe.

Ohio to Play Before 70,000

COLUMBUS — (UP) — A near-record opening day throng of 70,000 fans will see four and possibly five sophomores in the Ohio State football lineup which Coach Francis Schmidt will trot out Saturday afternoon against Indiana.

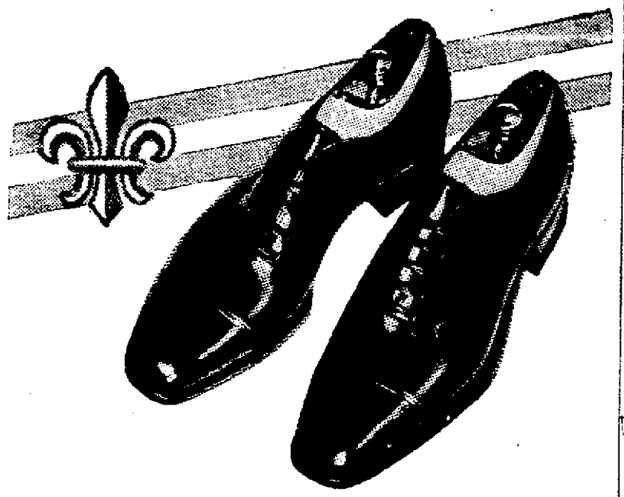
French Toes



Worn by Millions...
Imitated by Thousands...
Duplicated by None!

The "character" of Florsheim French Toes sets them above the thousands of inferior "copies" . . . their sleek, well-fitting lasts, their lighter, glove-like leathers, their smooth silk stitching—so fine the individual stitches are often almost invisible—can't be copied, because the time, the care, the experience, and the expert craftsmanship of Florsheims can't be duplicated.

A series of discouraging injuries to veterans, plus brilliant practice performances by the first-year men has prompted Schmidt to rely on the green material in the all-important contest against the Hoosiers which opens the Ohio State Big Ten season.

Inasmuch as Bo McMillin has bemoaned the fact that the Hoosiers, too, must depend on untried talent, the game may be decided by the reaction under fire of the host of brilliant sophomores on each squad.

Latest first-year candidate to move into the Ohio State limelight was Bill Nosker, 203-pound blond husky from Columbus. He appeared today as the likely starter at right guard for the Bucks in view of injuries to Ed Hofmayer, Columbus, and Nick Rutkay, Youngstown, two junior veterans.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS
(Gen'l Code 2293-28)

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education of the Mansfield City School District, Richland County in Mansfield, Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon of October 21, 1938 for the purchase of bonds of said School District, in the aggregate amount of $550,000.00, dated the 1st. day of October, 1938, and bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, payable April 1, 1940 and semi-annually thereafter, issued for the purpose of Erecting two Junior High School buildings including demolition of an existing structure necessary thereto, alterations and additions to several existing school buildings, with necessary equipment for each, purchase of land, landscape planting and sidewalks and under authority of the laws of Ohio and of Section 2293-19 et seq of the General Code of Ohio, and under and in accordance with a certain Resolution of the Board of Education of said School District, entitled:—Resolution to Issue Bonds After Submission to the Electors—passed on the 26th day of September, 1938.

Said Bonds are of the denomination of $1,000.00 each and mature as follows:—$13,000 on April 1st and October 1st of the years 1940 to 1944 inclusive, and $14,000 on April 1st and October 1st of the years 1945 to 1959 inclusive.

Any one desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than specified in the advertisement, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid such fraction shall be one-quarter of 1 per cent, or multiples thereof.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder, at the time and place above mentioned at not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must be made and submitted in duplicate on forms furnished by the Board of Education and must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check or bond drawn in favor of the Board of Education of the Mansfield City School District in the sum of $5,500.00.

The Board of Education of said School District reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The proceedings for the issuance of said bonds have been taken under the supervision of Messrs. Squires, Sanders and Dempsey, whose approving opinion will be furnished at the expense of the Board of Education.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Mansfield School Bonds."

Board of Education of the Mansfield City School District, Richland County, Ohio.

PAM—Late! By A. W. Brewerton

WHAT GIRL WOULDN'T FEEL VERY, VERY HIGHLY FLATTERED AT SUCH MARKED ATTENTION BY A MAN OF PAIGE'S WEALTH AND PROMINENCE?
HE'S OLD ENOUGH TO BE MY FATHER — BUT HE'S NICE — AND I DO LIKE HIM! STRANGE, HOW HE BECAME INTERESTED IN ME!
LATE THAT AFTERNOON
OH, DEAR — I'M GOING TO BE LATE GETTING HOME — AND I'VE AN EARLY DATE WITH DAN DALLIS! — COLONEL AND PAUL HAVE SURE HAD ME JUMPING, TODAY! — I WONDER WHAT MR. PAIGE WOULD SAY IF HE COULD SEE ME NOW?
AND THEN, AS IF IN ANSWER TO HER THOUGHTS—
MISS PAMELA POTTER, PLEASE!
YES — I AM MISS POTTER
A NOTE FOR YOU, PLEASE
"AM SENDING THE CAR FOR YOU TO GO HOME IN, IF YOU WISH — YOU MAY BE TIRED — KEEP IT ALL EVENING IF YOU CARE TO — HOPE TO SEE YOU SOON — KEITH PAIGE"—WHY, BLESS HIS HEART!

STOCK LEADERS SPURT AS WAR TENSION FADES

Prices Up 1 to More Than 3 Points in Most Exciting Opening in Months.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—In one of the most exciting openings in months, the stock market today responded to the peaceful settlement of the European war crisis by jumping 1 to more than 3 points.

Buyers were all over the floor of the stock exchange before the opening and demand for several leaders resulted in lengthy delays of initial trades.

U. S. Steel started 20 minutes late on a block of 10,000 shares up 2⅛. General Motors, also late, was up 1⅞ on 10,000 shares, Chrysler was delayed several minutes and finally appeared with a block of 8,000, up 3⅛.

Strength of foreign securities markets was an early inspiration. The gold price at London dropped nearly 50 cents an ounce. Sterling and French franc shot upward in terms of the dollar. Cotton futures in New York got up about 85 cents a bale. Wheat dipped. Bonds swung substantially higher.

As European tension faded more attention was given domestic economic developments.

Noted was the week-end review of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing a broadening of retail spending throughout the country as shoppers made purchases deferred during last week's stormy weather.

The survey found retail volume stepped up to within 2 to 12 per cent of the total in the like 1937 week, although wholesale trade lagged 3 to 8 per cent under last week and was 5 to 17 per cent under a year ago.

Clouding the picture was the fifth successive decline in commercial loans as reported by federal reserve member banks in New York City.

Helpful were forecasts in financial quarters that the turn for the better in foreign affairs would bring out a number of delayed bond flotations expected to run around $400,000,000.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

TEN NEW BOOKS ON LIBRARY'S FICTION LIST

'Wings of Great Desire' One of Best—Story of Woman Who Sought Perfection.

Of the ten new fiction volumes at the Public library this week, probably the most interesting is "Wings of Great Desire" by James Gray. This is the story of Faith Winchester, who, inspired by her father's teachings, seeks the perfection of the excellent life.

She impresses her determination on the lives of her husband and children, molding them to some extent in spite of themselves. This fire of ambition dominates her life, first as a newspaper reporter, then as the wife of an editor, and later as the mother of four children. The author builds up the portrait of Faith as a youthful blue stocking, participating in the self-conscious intellectual ferment and culture of the last century.

Two Novels of England.

Two novels of England deal with the common people. "Portrait of a Village" by Francis Brett Young describes the picturesque life among the residents of Monk's Norton, an imaginary village of unindustrialized England. "Song on Your Bugles" by Eric Knight offers contrast—being the story of a young mill worker who becomes an artist only to drop back into the mill again in the midst of a labor struggle. The Yorkshire accent, the description of factory drugery, strike famines and pathetic tinsel holidays make the book worth reading.

Other fiction this week is: "Coffins for Three," by Davis; Beast Must Die," Day-Lewis; "I'm Getting Married," Seldes; "Attention: Miss Wells," Jerman; "Death Wears a White Gardenia," Popkin; "Hous of All Nations," by Stead, and "Crowning of a King," by Zweig.

The Nazi Way.

Two non-fiction volumes of particularly timely interest are on Germany of the Nazis. "The Nazi Primer," the official handbook for the schooling of Hitler youth, translated from the German by Harwood L. Childs, with a commentary by Ambassador William E. Dodd, present the doctrines which are the backbone of today's German propaganda and shows what the Nazis preach. "Savage Symphony" by Mrs. Eva Lips, wife of the head of the Cologne museum, tells how her husband, an internationally known scientist, refused to compromise with the Hitler regime and was crushed by a political juggernaut.

"Green Worlds" is Maurice Hindu's autobiography and compares rural Russia to rural America with distinct advantage to the latter. David Seabury's new book, "Build Your Own Life," propounds the theory that if one plans his own future he can free his life of hardships, turning discouragement into confidence, grief into happiness and failure into success.

Other New Books.

Other new non-fiction this week which deals with religion, photography and current affairs. includes the following volumes:

"New Frontiers of Religion," by Swift; "Two Buddhist Books in Mahayana," compiled by Lee; "Facing the Future," Hall, "Master Builders of Sixty Centuries; "Story of Lucky Strike," by Flannagan; "Making Pictures with the Miniature Camera," by Deschin; "Photography," Mees; "Labor Sculpture," Kalish; "The United States," by Hacker and others; "Scenic Resources of the Tennessee Valley;" "Living Abroad," Richardson; "Intermission in Europe," by Barlett, "Strong Man of China," Berkov; "Enemy Within," Landau; "Japan in China," by Bisson, and "Thrice a Stranger," by Brittain

An addition to the John Baxter Black Memorial collection this week is "The Schoolma'am," by Frances R. Donovan. It is the true picture of the women of today who at this moment are moulding the thoughts and lives of those who will control our destinies tomorrow. This book, which is largely personal testimony of a woman who has spent 19 years as a teacher in different types of schools in different communities in the United States, contains also letters and documents written by other teachers.

LAFF-A-DAY

"That's the wrong number, operator—can I have my slug back?"

CHECK, CLEAN YOUR FURNACE CAREFULLY, WARNS FIRE CHIEF

Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger today urged home owners to prepare for winter by checking and cleaning out their furnaces now to reduce to a minimum the fire hazards that occur at this time of the year.

"Fires in private dwellings always show an increase at this time of the year," Chief Seeburger said. "This is due mostly to carelessness in the choice of containers used to store ashes, in firing the furnace and in the lack of knowledge that soot will burn and that sparks will spread to the house next door."

Chief Seeburger said the best plan is to have a competent furnace man do the cleaning, but if this is not possible the following rules should be observed.

Don't attempt to set a coal stove with a flue where a gas stove has formerly been, since gas causes the tiling to separate and gives room for coal embers to fall beneath the cracks and ignite the wood below.

Burn the furnace out in the daytime only and then only on a damp day

Check the smoke pipe well as it rusts through and leaves openings for sparks to drop.

Above all be certain that hot ashes are placed in non-combustible receptacles.

Pull out the flue and clean out all soot which is highly combustible.

And lastly, protect your neighbor by keeping your furnace under control so that sparks will not ignite wooden shingles.

Police Set Goal of 5,000 Tickets for Annual Ball

Five thousand tickets for the fifth annual police ball to be held Oct. 17 at the Coliseum were placed on sale today by members of the Mansfield Police Recreation club, sponsors of the event.

Officers predicted a "sell out" for the annual event which last year attracted more than 3,000 persons.

Ace Brigode and his Virginians, nationally known dance band, now playing at the Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati and heard regularly over radio station WLW, will play for dancing from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Proceeds of the event are to be used to purchase equipment for the police department.

Members of the committee in charge of the ticket sale are Police Chief Meade K. Bates and Patrolmen Paul Martin, O. D. Fair, John Gilbert and Gordon Drury.

Southampton dealt with 19 liners—an unusually large number—and several cross channel steamers in two days during a recent week.

MOVIE CONTEST WINNERS NAMED

25 to Receive 2 Tickets, Each for Identifying Stars of Silver Screen.

Twenty-five winners of theater guest tickets were announced today after judges had gone over entries from several hundred persons who entered the movie star identification contest in last Saturday's News-Journal.

Winners will receive two theater tickets each by calling at the News-Journal office for them. They are:

Hazel Gilbert, 55 North Weldon; Mrs. Donald Frank, Perrysville; Naomi Crosky, 146 West Fourth; Sue Bush, 24 Shelby avenue; Martha Lucas, 158 Reed street; Donna Ruth Klingel, 265 Pittsburgh avenue; Margaret M. Tipul, 31 Raymond avenue; Mrs. P. E. Reiter, Bellville; Mrs Albert Cosenza, 53 South Main; Ruth Griffin, Bellville; Juanita Halloway, 537 West Fourth.

Miss Alice Moats, 7 Superior street; Agnes Loeckel, 324 Second avenue; Dorothy Frick, 197 Helen avenue; Gwendollyn Stahleber, 18 Superior street; Mrs. Glaris Morton, Mansfield; George Miller, 39 Clairmont avenue; Mrs. John Kleshynski, 580 North Mulberry; Mrs. Gordon Loos, 28½ Boughton avenue.

Mary Hrivnak, 20 Jeanette avenue; Frances Hrivnak, 20 Jeanette avenue; Marianna Watts, 267 West Fifth; Robert Haag, 367 Marion avenue; Mrs. R. O. Ropp, 127 Lind avenue, and D. A. Witman, 537 West Fourth street.

ATTACKS LAW

Attorney Appeals Ohio 'Anti-Rustling' Criminal Case.

LOGAN—(U.P.)—Constitutionality of the Fall-McCulloch-Hummel "anti-rustling" law passed by the Ohio legislature last year is challenged in a writ of habeas corpus filed in the fourth district court of appeals by a Logan attorney.

Eugene Wright, the attorney, sought release of Henry Ervin of Wellston from the Hocking county jail on the grounds that he was sentenced under an unconstitutional law

Ervin was fined $50 and given a six-month jail sentence under the law, which requires any person transporting livestock to give officers full information upon request. He was arrested Sept. 6 with 47 chickens which he tried to sell. He refused to tell where he got the chickens.

Paul Bryant of New Holland later brought charges against Ervin in Ross county, claiming the chickens were stolen from him.

CHEAP TRANSPORTATION

JACKSON, Mich. —(INS)— Nels Holmes, 38, uses less than 2 gallons of gasoline in traveling about 175 miles a day. He uses a motor scooter on his journeys and has traveled 11,000 miles since he left Northport, Mich., last year.

Display to Visit City

Modern store front lighting and new building materials are illustrated in a special exhibit of 12 model store fronts to be shown from two display trucks which will visit Mansfield Oct. 4.

The model exhibit which will be on display from 11 a. m. to 7 p. m. at the City Square Auto park, 30 North Diamond street, is being sponsored by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants association.

The display features miniature store fronts and window displays, complete and accurate in every detail. They embody the latest developments in design, construction and illumination as applied to various types of retail stores.

The special store exhibit is on a nation-wide tour and it contains many saving and money-making suggestions of practical value to every store owner and manager, as well as property

LABOR INTACT

Steel Official Says Machines Not Displacing Men.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Because steel production is changing from a mass industry to a made-to-order business, improvements in machinery are not displacing labor, Louis F. Coffin, president of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers, said at the association's 34th annual convention.

"Now every order is a special order that must be given special treatment from the open hearth to the finished products," he said. "The old days of filling orders from a stock pile are gone."

Coffin said this trend to custom-built steel included both its chemical composition and the actual physical treatment during manufacture.

"That's why a large labor supply is needed," he said, quoting steel institute figures that the industry is now employing more men per ton of steel produced than it did in a boom year like 1929.

MAILMAN SINKS SHOT

HUTCHINSON, Kans. — (AP) — Harold L. Barrett, letter carrier who golfs for "exercise," pulled a brand new No. 6 iron from his bag for the 130-yard sixth hole. He never used it before. His first shot with it was a hole-in-one.

APPROVAL NEAR

Referendum on Selection of Ohio Judges Predicted.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Secretary of State William J. Kennedy has declared that the proposal to choose judges of higher Ohio courts by appointment undoubtedly would win a place on the November ballot.

Calling attention to a Franklin county common pleas court decision which restored nearly 3,000 of the 11,000 signatures which had been thrown off the initiative petitions in the county Kennedy said similar action in other counties would assure the constitutional amendment's being placed before the voters.

The court here held that signers did not have to be registered voters at the time they signed. A similar interpretation in Hamilton county will add about 7,000 names, and such action also is likely in Lucas county, Kennedy said.

MINES MORE GOLD

CANBERRA—(U.P.) — Australia's gold output last year was 1,380,431 fine ounces valued at $47,924,000 in Australian currency. This was more than three times the low level production of 1929. Even greater production is assured for the present year.

DIRECT RELIEF CHANGE MAPPED BY STATE CHIEF

Uniform Benefits Throughout County to Be Established, Director Dixon Says.

Mansfield and Richland county relief officials today were waiting receipt of instructions from State Director William C. Dixon, which will require them to unify direct relief benefits in the various subdivisions of the county.

Relief officials have been told by Dixon that they will be asked to establish uniform budget provisions so that relief clients will not be encouraged to move from one sub-division to another in search of the highest relief awards. Detailed instructions are expected shortly.

Among the new regulations announced is one which states that the quarterly re-registrations of relief clients must be "entirely voluntary on the part of the applicant and any direct or indirect solicitation of such re-registration by any employe shall result in his immediate dismissal."

Investigation Mandatory.

It was explained that investigation of every relief applicant before any award is granted will be mandatory.

The state relief director also set $30 a month as the maximum allowance for rent of any relief family, regardless of size.

Supplemental relief from state and local funds to persons employed on WPA "is not to be encouraged" but may be given if the WPA wage is less than the family would receive under the uniform budget allowance if on direct relief. In any event the amount of supplemental relief is to be limited to the difference between the WPA wage and the uniform budget allowance.

County-wide estimates of money needed to finance relief in 1939 were ordered submitted to the state relief office by Nov. 1.

Relief officials said there is no record of comparative costs of relief in the various Richland county sub-divisions and that the general uniformity of the costs indicate there is no great variance in the amounts allotted families in the different political sub-divisions.

NEW MISSION

Religious Group to Start Activities Soon.

Establishment of the Christ Gospel Mission, Inc., an inter-denominational organization, in Mansfield was announced today by J. B. Maxwell of Middletown, district superintendent.

The local office will be located at 287 North Main street, and is expected to open within the next two weeks. Maxwell has been in mission work for the past 19 years, and was in Shelby from 1925 to 1933 doing the same work.

The Mansfield office will be in charge of Maxwell, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young of Mansfield. Regular gospel services will be held at the mission during the week and on Sunday. Soup, coffee and sandwiches will be served to the needy during the winter months, Maxwell announced.

City Manager Smelled Out By 'Birthday Cake'

DALLAS, Tex.—(INS)—The first birthday of "little Algy" was celebrated here with due ceremonies that the city hall will never forget.

"Little Algy" is somebody's pet name for the algae that invaded the Dallas water supply two years in a row. The result was a flavor vaguely resembling rotting wood—and a lot of uncomplimentary publicity for Dallas.

After a week of the second attack, a solemn-faced delegation marched into city manager Hal Moseley's office with a "cake" bearing a single candle burning in the center. Moseley was out to lunch.

"It's little Algy's birthday cake," announced a member of the group to Mrs. Beulah McCallon, Moseley's secretary, as she clapped her hand to her nose in dismay. "He's one year old today."

The "cake" was a carefully molded and highly odoriferous lump of limburger cheese.

25-YEAR-OLD CAT

SACO, Me.—(INS)—"Babe," 25-year-old tiger cat belonging to F. S. Church, claimed to be Maine's oldest cat, recently gave birth to three black kittens, raising the number of her offspring to nearly 200, according to Church.

BLANKS HERE FOR STATE JOB TESTS

Social Security Office Assists in Distribution of Them.

Examination blanks for the forthcoming Ohio Civil service examinations, Oct. 25 to Nov. 3, are now available at the office of the Social Security board in the Richland Trust building, R. G. Mish, manager of the Mansfield field office announced today.

Mish said the board had been asked by the state civil service commission to co-operate with it in the distribution of announcements and applications to those interested in taking the examinations.

The examinations are being given primarily to establish registers from which positions with the Ohio Unemployment commission and the state Employment service may be filled. The positions for which the examinations will be held are managers of local offices, examiners, interviewers, accountants, clerks and stenographers.

All applications must be filed with the Ohio civil service commission in Columbus by 5 p. m. Oct. 8 or, if mailed, postmarked not later than midnight of that date.

Diversified Talents.

Entertainers who are already familiar to the public are among the shadows on the Ohio screen who entertain audiences the last half of this week, in "Garden of The Moon." There is Johnnie Davis, the trumpet player who came to Hollywood with Fred Waring and remained; Jerry Colonna, of the radio and night clubs, Joe Venuti and his swing orchestra of radio fame, Tony Romano, guitarist and others. The screen players are Margaret Lindsay, Pat O'Brien and John Payne.

* * *

Double Romance.

The circus big-top is the background for Joe Penner's latest film, "I'm From The City," although the latter scenes shift to a western ranch where the comedian doffs his circus rider's clothes for chaps and sombrero. Love finds Joe, too, in a double-barreled manner, with a petite blond and a vivacious brunet fighting for his favors. The film runs through Saturday at the Madison.

* * *

Action On The Trail.

There's dramatic action on "The Colorado Trail" when a range war breaks out in the cattle country and a crooked cattle man tries to blockade the only pass through which the ranchers can get their cattle out of the valley, in order to force down the price of beef. Handsome Charles Starrett is the shooting cow hand in this Western which shows at the Majestic today and Saturday. "Come On Leathernecks" is the second bill.

CHINESE BUY BONDS

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The new safety vault of the Bank of Canton here now contains $3,000,000 in Chinese Liberty bonds. These represent money loaned to finance the Chinese war by residents of San Francisco's Chinatown.

STORK WINNER

Baby's Born In Garage After Truck Refuses to Run.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(INS)—Mrs. George Kenyon was accompanying her husband in his old-model truck peddling vegetables on Kingsway between New Westminster and Vancouver when they heard the wings of the stork.

Kenyon "stepped on the gas" but the ancient vehicle gave a final cough and cut out just as Kenyon steered into a garage. The stork caught up and mother and child later were removed to the general hospital here.

A Nice Easy Drive to See the CONVICT SHIP
AT SANDUSKY
"SUCCESS"—Oldest Vessel Afloat
Open For Public Inspection at Foot of Jackson Street

"To be transported over the high seas"—meant in the early 18th century to be taken 16,000 miles from England to Botany Bay on one of the massive ships of the infamous felon fleet. It took the wretched prisoners eight or nine months to make the trip—Today in an hour you may inspect the last of this fleet of terror—the famous old Australian.

THIS WONDERFUL VESSEL HAS MADE HISTORY
-- Through Three Centuries --

She marked the beginning and the end of England's monstrous penal system.

She has held lurid horror and dreadful iniquities which made even the terrible stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and the Spanish Inquisition pale into insignificance.

She is the oldest ship in the world and the only convict ship left afloat out of that dreadful "Fleet of Ocean Hells" which sailed the Seven Seas in 1790 A. D.

She is unchanged after all these years, nothing being omitted but her human freight and their sufferings from the cruelties and barbarities practiced upon them.

Aboard her are now shown, in their original state, all the airless dungeons and condemned cells, the whipping post, the manacles, the branding irons, the punishment balls, the leaden-tipped cat-o-nine tails, the coffin bath and the other fiendish inventions of man's brutality to his fellow man.

From keel to topmast she cries aloud the greatest lesson the world has ever known in the history of human progress. The Convict Ship "Success" is the Greatest and Most Extraordinary Exhibition That Ever Visited America. It Is a Theme for the Pen of a Dante. When You Walk Her Decks, Grooved With the Chains of Her Miserable Victims, the Past Will Speak to You Its Sad and Mournful Lesson. But You Will Leave Feeling Better Because You Live in a Better Age.

The Convict Ship is lighted throughout with electricity so that her manifold wonders can be comfortably inspected. A corps of high-class guides and lecturers is always on duty, to conduct visitors over her three decks brimful of historic and educational interest.

Open to Public Daily 10 A. M. to 11 P. M.
Foot of Jackson St., Sandusky
Admission: 40c; Children 20c, Tax Paid. Services of a Guide and Lecturer Included.

175 GIRLS PLAY IN INTRAMURAL SOCCER TOURNEY

Six Classes Compete; Officers for Junior High Band Named; Other School Notes.

More than 175 girls at Senior high school have entered the annual intramural soccer tournament which got underway this week, Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, girls' physical education instructor, announced today.

Girls from all six classes have entered the tournament, with each class having a team. The tournament will continue for three weeks, and play will be held every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday after school.

Miss Janet Baughman has been named as general manager of the tournament. Class managers are Kathryn Pocock, 12-A; Eloise Husung, 12-B; Lois Robinson, 11-A; Thelma Kennedy, 11-B; Pearl Rube, 10-A, and Doris Dent, 10-B.

* * *

Officers of the John Simpson Junior high school band for the year were announced today by J. Merton Holcombe, director. Those named are Bruce Graves, president; Norman Wilcox, vice president; James Bierly, librarian; Todd Strohminger, assistant director, and Wilbur Bookwalter and James Sheads, managers. The group meets every Monday and Tuesday.

* * *

The Girls' Athletic association at John Simpson Junior high school will hold its first meeting of the school year Monday after school. Meetings of the group have been held up due to the half-day schedule now in force at the school, according to Miss Wilma Snider, physical education instructor. Election of leaders of the various sporting activities planned for the year will be held at the meeting. Maxine Bush is president of the group.

Tryouts for parts in the three-act comedy, "The Youngest," to be presented as the class play by the January graduating class at Senior high school got underway yesterday under supervision of Earl Heasley, dramatics instructor at the school. Tryouts are open to all members of the class. Rehearsals will begin as soon as the cast has been selected. The play is expected to be presented early in November, according to Heasley.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1938.

Good bye, September. We're glad to have had you here and are sorry you can't stay longer.

President Benes was not invited to the conference—the patient is seldom consulted when the surgeons are ready to operate.

Tonight is the time limit on your old driver's license—unless you have a new license you are not privileged to drive a car after midnight tonight.

Next week has been designated by Postmaster General Farley as National Letter Writing week—and maybe some of his new stamps haven't been selling fast enough to suit him.

Handicaps to Self-Government.

FINDING renewed interest in present conditions in Europe, with a background of wars being waged in China and Spain, the question is again asked. "Can democracies and dictatorships continue to exist in the world?"

The answer is that democracies and dictatorships MUST continue to exist together on earth long into the future—else there will be no democracies.

With approximately two billion people on this planet, representing all stages of the human family from savage to the degree of civilization thus far reached by the most highly developed specimens, it it obvious that the assumption of self-governing ability on which democracy is based cannot yet extend to all people.

Democracy rests on belief that people KNOW what to do and that they will do it. A dictatorship, or monarchy, assumes that people DO NOT KNOW what to do, but must be told by someone in absolute authority.

Democracy is an experiment. Not enough time has yet elapsed to prove that it can be a success.

Continued necessity for laws to curb crime, greed, immorality and other forms of misconduct which evidence lack of the restraint that is an essential concomitant of self-governing ability, argues against democracy and strengthens the case of absolutism. Laws are made necessary by those who cannot govern themselves.

That percentage of a population which admits individual failure by appealing to governmental agencies for help, also—perhaps without realization—aligns itself on the side of those who contend that a democracy cannot long endure.

Those who do not vote, who take no part in choosing officials and who condone crooked politics as a "necessary evil"—they also may be offered in support of a claim that world civilization has not yet advanced to a stage where self government is practicable.

Those who obey laws only because of a fear of "being caught" provide no proof that a democracy can succeed.

The only way that a democracy can insure its permanence is to strive toward making ALL of its citizens worthy of the confidence implied by the designation, "a self governing people."

Picture Tells Boys Town Story.

MANY people have heard of Boys Town, that real incorporated town eleven miles west of Omaha, Nebraska, which is the outgrowth of the dream of one man—Father Edward J. Flanagan, who a quarter of a century ago conceived the idea of providing a place where homeless and underprivileged boys could be given the environment and training that would make them real men and good citizens.

Making the start in an old home in Omaha, Father Flanagan overcame financial difficulties and opposition, eventually acquired a 320-acre farm suitable for his purposes, and finally, ten years ago, established Boys Town, with a present population of around 250, eleven substantial buildings, schools, dairy, workshops, recreation rooms and dormitories.

The little city is governed by the boys themselves, supervised by Father Flanagan and teachers.

For those interested in the subject of juvenile delinquency and the evils attendant on slum sections and conditions which contribute to making criminals or paupers out of children, the example set by Father Flanagan in his Boys Town accomplishment is worthy of study.

Now that the story of Boys Town has been brought to the screen, in a picture carrying the same name, opportunity is given many additional millions of people to not only get a close-up view of the town itself, and the work being done there, but also to gain a clear impression of the fighting spirit and indomitable courage which Father Flanagan put into this work—always with the firm belief. "There is no such thing as a bad boy."

Mansfield is fortunate in the early local showing of Boys Town—it will be enjoyed as a well-made and entertaining picture, and it will be inspirational in its revelation of methods that have succeeded in building fine manhood from seemingly hopeless material.

Newspapers for All.

THREE HUNDRED Chicago women at a political rally answered questions the other day as to their use of daily newspapers and all said they read at least one paper every day. They said they gave their first attention to editorials and politics. All of them said they believed in a free press and expressed dislike for sensationalism and crime news.

After editorials and politics, these women turn to the women's news, then to local news. Foreign news holds fifth place in their interest, a surprising fact at a time when the world is watching a series of diplomatic moves that may mean the life or death of civilization.

Such surveys may not be very useful. It is already known that many women read newspapers and that more of them than formerly are interested in public affairs, local, national and world-wide. They doubtless read less on the sport pages than men, just as men read less on the women's pages than the ladies. The entire newspaper is read, however, by the public as a whole, if not by every reader. That is why it must present such a variety of material.

Some youthful motorists pay so much attention to the curves alongside that they miss seeing the ones in the road.

Daladier believes that nothing but hard work will save France. What, no pension plan!

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—So much oral and written criticism has been heaped on Great Britain, France and even the United States for failing to go to bat at once for Czechoslovakia that it seemed pertinent to ask what held them back.

First off, we went to a carefully observant Englishman, and second to an American who has been the confidante of five presidents.

The following reflects their estimate of Chamberlain's position:

It was pointed out that men usually have two opinions of a situation, one dictated by the heart and one by the head. But leaders of nations are permitted only judgment of the head. Judgment of the heart urges: rush in to help underdog Czechoslovakia. Judgment of the head must consider other things.

Here are some of the "other things." Militarily speaking, Hitler had England and France across a barrel at the time he was host to Chamberlain. He was well prepared for immediate war; and they were poorly prepared.

* * *

Double Trouble Now.

BOTH my informants were frankly critical of England, France, and to a degree of the United States, for permitting a steady accumulation of trouble through a period of years.

For instance, if the League of Nations had gradually eased the difficulties of some of the minorities and had adjusted reparations through modification of the Versailles treaties, and—

If the depression had not prolonged each nation's domestic problems, and—

If European statesmen (including Chamberlain) had realized they could not bottle up economically and politically 75,000,000 virile Germans—

Or, if England and France had realized Germany's recent rapid rearmament and their own weakness, and had beaten her to the draw—

Then, the situation might have been different.

But these "iffy" difficulties had not been eliminated and Chamberlain faced them all, together with uncertainty as to what aid might come from America or Russia.

* * *

British Tied to French.

FURTHER, Chamberlain was at the mercy of the French. If the French brought war upon themselves, England would be forced to join in.

Yet, faced with the possibility that war would come, with London hopelessly exposed to air attack and with the powerful Siegfried Line steadily closing out the principal avenue for attacking Germany by land, Chamberlain had a hapless job.

Too, our British informant explained, once a certain degree of German expansion is permitted, her need for further expansion as well as her capacity to expand will decrease.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Sept. 30, 1918.

Rev. Martin Luther Schmucker, 65, retired Lutheran minister, died.

W. F. Frankeberger moved from 12 Cappeller Court to 36½ West Fourth street.

Richard Carle in "Furs and Feathers" was stage attraction at Opera House.

Mrs. George Ryland, 212 Bowman street, underwent operation at General hospital.

Harvey Grabler and James Wentling went to Camp Sherman for assignment in military band.

Milk wagon upset while horse was grazing at corner of Fourth and Mulberry streets.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Sept. 30, 1933.

C. F. Routzahn retired from the internal revenue office at Cleveland after 12 years service.

Miss Genevieve Eaton became the bride of Clem J. Wehinger at St. Peter's church.

Mrs. Rose Baker of Portland, Ore., was visiting her brother, W. L. Seemuth and family, 767 West Fourth street.

Mrs. William Fell Brown, Mrs. Henry Redding and her daughter, Miss Frances, Mansfielders who had been residing in Columbus, returned here to make their home.

Dr. R. R. Barrett, Huntington Park, Ca., a former resident, was visiting friends in the city.

Miss Lena Kinsley and William Carr, Mansfield, were married at Richmond, Ind.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Some 213 lives were lost when the U. S. ship Ticonderoga was torpedoed in the Atlantic on September 30, 1918.

Timely Editorial

Pedestrian Gets Break.

The pedestrian is to get a break, and it is high time, too. Four-lens traffic signals, with a special light for pedestrians, are to be installed on downtown Euclid and Superior avenues.

Pedestrians, who flee daily from crosswalk crawlers who leap before the light changes, will appreciate the new device. They will be thankful, indeed, if it can also hold in check the corner-cutters who scatter flocks of walkers by turning on a green light at high speed.—Cleveland Press.

GIVE HIM THE BOOT

The Human Side of the News

—By EDWIN C. HILL

OUR World's Fair next year will forecast the world of tomorrow. The multitudes swarming into the fair ground will be projected into the future, like the hero of Bellamy's "Looking Backward." That it is all as it should be, but, incidentally, New York City and its environs is a grand take-off for a trip to the world of yesterday, as well as that of tomorrow. Few areas in America are rooted so deeply in rich historic associations. Some aphorist, whose name I have mislaid, recently remarked that we should "digest the past, live the present and prepare for the future."

This homily, even if it does seem a bit didactic, has suggested to me that perhaps one of the major distortions of our civilization is our disproportionate stress on the future, to the neglect of the present and the past. The three are organically related as Wellington clearly realized after the Battle of Waterloo. "The battles of England are won on the playing fields of Eton," he said.

* * *

I FEEL sure that many thousands of the bright lads who come to our fair from the far reaches of the country will be thrilled with a visit to "Sleepy Hollow," on the east bank of the Hudson, just twenty-five miles north of New York City, where rode Washington Irving's headless horseman. And there, too, they will find an American Eton, founded 101 years ago, largely through Washington Irving's efforts.

It is the Irving School, founded as "An English and Classical Boarding School for Young Gentlemen," now thoroughly staffed and equipped, with a modern secondary school curriculum for college preparation, but in many ways an American Eton in its fascinating link with the past and its nurture of our historic heritage in teaching and in its school life. A few yards away from the school gate stands the Andre monument, commemorating the failure of the British to capture West Point. Near by is the "Old Dutch" church of "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," and the manor house of Vedric Felypse, where Washington and other revolutionary generals found hospitality. South of the village is Washington Irving's home, "Sunnyside."

* * *

A NEW-RICH American was being shown over the lawns of Oxford by an old gardener. Patronizingly, he approved of the lawns and asked the gardener how he managed to get such velvety smoothness. The gardener explained, painstakingly and in detail, telling exactly how to prepare the soil, what kind of seed and fertilizer to use. And then he added:

"And then, sir, you roll it carefully for—I should say about 800 years."

I am sure that an intelligent boy from Ardmore, Okla., will find a new sense of historicity when he sees on the Irving school yard a tree which once spread its branches in Washington's wide ambit of vision. At Tappan, growing in the middle of the street, is a tree on which were tacked the bulletins of Andre's trial in the near-by church.

World's fair visitors from the prairies will love our great old trees. One might say that their roots are history, that their sturdy trunks are today and that the delicate outreach of new leaves each year is the future.

This piece, which seems to have gone far afield, was supposed to be about the Irving school. I have noted it at a random for its fascinating history, its lovely spacious old buildings, its beautiful wooded setting, its carryover of great tradition and its alert adaptation to today in its teaching, sports and extra-curricular activities. And possibly, in the back of my mind, was the idea that our forthcoming "world of tomorrow" should somehow address itself to the lads who will be fashioning this new world. The reception committee of the fair couldn't do better than to route the visiting boys and girls through Sleepy Hollow and the old Irving school . . . "Lest we forget."

In these days, the future crowds so closely on the present and the past that it sometimes beats the gun and we aren't sure which is which. David Sarnoff, panjandrum of radio, calls it back to the post. Back from England, he says there is no such television runaway as we have supposed. It will be a long time coming.

This is perhaps all to the good, considering what kind of pictures television might bring into a home these days. But it might end war. A bellicose Englishman of today, clamoring for war, might pipe down, if through the walls of his house there came a clear view of men, women and children dying in China or Spain. Will future television show mothers their sons dying on the battlefield? That might end war.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Coercion In Relief System.

By GUS W. DYER
Professor of Economics, Sociology, Vanderbilt University.

Relief, as administered by the federal government, is rapidly developing into the greatest organization of political bribery and coercion ever known in the history of democracy.

Bribery and coercion are not incidental to the system, nor the result of the abuses of the system. They are the oustanding, vital factors in the system, as promoted and operated by the government.

Emergency relief might have been turned over to a non-partisan organization, such as the Red Cross, or it might have been turned over to the several states to be administered through the community chest system, or other similar non-political systems. But the administration failed to adopt any of these non-political plans.

The plan of the administration from the beginning has been for congress to turn over the billions of dollars appropriated for relief to the president, as a discretionary fund to be distributed by him as he pleases.

To understand the effectiveness of this system from a political point of view, the fact must be kept in mind that the average man does not comprehend abstract principles, no matter how sound and fundamental they may be. It is only when these principles are put in action by an individual that they can be understood, and then, it is the individual rather than the principles that is recognized.

Hence the millions who are receiving special aid from the government seldom think of this aid as coming from the government, or even from the representatives of the government in congress. To them the president is their benefactor. And the president has declared himself to be, and is, the leader of the political party in power.

Under this skilfully devised system of relief, the leader of a political party has the power to withhold aid from one state and give unusual aid to another. He has the power to give special aid to certain communities and groups, and curtail the aid to other communities and groups. This condition of things puts millions on the "anxious seat." It is to the interest of all communities, organizations and individuals who want special aid from the government to please the party in power. They must endorse the things it endorses, and support the candidates for office that it wants to see elected.

Under this system Mr. Hopkins, the administrator of the system, says that 90 per cent of those receiving aid will support Mr. Roosevelt politically. He adds that it is not necessary to tell these people how to vote. Of course not. Is it necessary to tell the average man how to vote when the issue as he sees it is "Do I want the payments to continue?" Through persuasion and coercion a large proportion of the indifferent ten per cent may be brought into line.

The system as directed by the administration subjects every congressman to a condition of coercion. If his course in congress is displeasing to the distributor of gifts to millions of voters, he is in danger of defeat at the polls by the recipient of the gifts.

The senate committee, composed chiefly of New Dealers, appointed to study the use of relief money in politics, observes that "organized efforts are being made to control the votes of those on relief work, and that this imperils the right of the people to a free and unpolluted ballot." Why should we look for anything else from a system that is subversive of the very foundation of democratic government?

The governor of Kentucky says that the WPA forces were increased from 30,000 to 68,000 after he announced against Barkley, the administration's candidate. If each of the 68,000 controlled on an average three votes among his relatives who wanted to see him keep his job, this meant a vote of 270,000—a vote practically sufficient to nominate the candidate desired by the administration.

But it is encouraging that the seemingly invincible system of bribery and coercion is going down before the onslaughts of American independence.

A Farmer's Diary

Women Are Wonderful.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THREE times a week the bread man, in his red delivery truck, makes the rounds of the neighborhood. Today he found nobody at home at almost every farmhouse. When he came to the old red schoolhouse at the corner, now used as a community center, a cluster of motor cars and the sound of hilarious feminine voices told of something doing.

And what a shock he had! For the clock had turned back half a century or more, and in the billowing, bustled costumes of their mothers and grandmothers, the good wives of the neighborhood were forming a processional.

It was a wedding party—a bride, in flowing ruffled train with rows of narrow satin ribbon and wreath of orange blossoms; a bridegroom, erect and dapper, with sleek hair, stiff collar, and swallow tails; the father and the mother of the bride, the aunts, distant cousins and poor relations.

A quaint, hoop-skirted figure, with a sheet of music in her hands, detached from the group. From within, came strains of "I Love You Truly" and "Here Comes the Bride." The dignified "parson" tilted her silk hat to a straighter angle, and led the shrinking bridegroom through the front door of the building. In at a side door filed the rest of the strangely attired company. The bread man drove on, chuckling.

My wife told me about it at supper. "The costumes were really lovely," she declared. "There were stiff silk dresses of Civil war times, and beautiful shawls, and lace collars and brooches a hundred years old—and pill box hats, with plumes. It's strange how modern styles are going back to those of olden days. They looked so pretty, and they had such fun! They used a shoestring to tie the knot, and the bridegroom couldn't find it. . . . What are you grinning like that for?"

"Just thinking how women are," I admitted, "and what funny things they'll do to entertain themselves."

She gave me a peculiar glance. "Well?" I invited.

"Oh, nothing—only remembering rumors I've heard of what goes on at stag parties, and thinking of a few parades I've seen the men put on, with regalia and what not. Women are funny, sometimes, I know! They're married to the men."

Listen, World!

Naturalized or Native American?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DID you ever face a question which brought you up standing, like a hand on your heart, and left you with a wider pulse beat ever after?

A 15-year-old girl sent me such a question today, little Margaret Dilliner, of Glendale, Cal. And set me thinking of that promise that "a little child may lead us"—along new and nobler trails. So let's turn off the dial and drop the sport page—and give Margaret's young voice a chance to work its spell.

"There's a question going around," says she. "Perhaps it's because of the war threats, and the people dividing into new groups and remembering their old differences. But whatever it is, I'm hearing this asked—'WHICH IS THE BETTER CITIZEN—THE NATURALIZED OR THE NATIVE AMERICAN?'

"Perhaps I cannot answer that as an older person might but I have been trying to feel out the truth. There is the native American whose father probably belongs to the 'Sons of the Revolution,' his mother to the Colonial Dames. Perhaps one of his ancestors took part in the Boston Tea Party or froze with Washington at Valley Forge. His relations died on American battle fields, commanded her ships, cleared the wilderness of the west. This native is naturally proud of his past—He is American!

"But now the naturalized citizen proudly presents his argument. 'I am an American, too,' he says. 'In the Old Country my father and mother were but specks of dust. One in Siberia. Another was crippled for life in defending his home during a bloody massacre. They were persecuted, driven like dumb beasts—

"'But one day a spark lit in those 'Specks of dust' . . . and they became human beings . . . human beings with the light of liberty warming their hearts and brains. And guided by that light they came to America—and made me, their son, an American. I may not have an American past but I AM America's present and I MOLD AMERICA'S FUTURE.' So what?

WHICH IS THE GREATER CITIZEN . . . THE MAN WHO WAS BORN AN' AMERICAN OR THE MAN WHO CHOSE TO BECOME AN AMERICAN? Will you ask your boys and girls that, Miss Robinson?

Margaret Dilliner, aged 15,
Glendale, Calif.

I'll not only tell the boys and girls, child, but I'll pass it on, as far as I may, to the world. For of all the issues we face, this is the most pressing. There is hate in the air. There is horror spreading bat winds down the lanes of the night. And the doom which darkens Europe, may shortly be close on our heels.

So we need, above all things, to answer your question quickly, child . . . not that we, through foolish vanity, may measure our worth as Americans, the native born against the naturalized, but that we may learn, for our own souls' salvation, the measure and meaning of Americanism itself.

We have muddled that measure and meaning. We have strayed far from those who made America—and the reason they made it. We have forgotten that—

And any man who lives it, may have it. But the man who lives it not, can neither claim it, even though there be the name of every American patriot on his family tree.

For there is neither geography nor ancestory nor "better" or "worse" to Americanism. There is only Americanism, itself . . . which no man may give to you or take from you . . . or encompass by a boundary line . . . or establish by a date.

And though all America's past pride and glory may flare around the man who "hails from the Mayflower" . . . ITS FUTURE HOPE AND HONOR MAY LIE IN THE DEPTH OF SOME ILLITERATE ALIEN'S REVERENT CALLOUSED HAND.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The style forum for men this fall was like seeing whole pages of Esquire magazine come to life.

It was held at the Waldorf, and for the occasion I wore my shiny blue serge, a new hat and a blue tie. William H. Weintraub, Esquire's publisher and the sponsor, saw nothing in my get-up to make him change his mind about what the well dressed man will wear this fall and winter. He proved however, a cheery host as he led me through the salons where factual evidence of the latest dictates of the sartorial czars was on display.

Now let's approach the matter of trousers. If your slacks are correct, they will be either tweed, twill, or velvet cord. And they will only be 16 inches at the cuff, "to facilitate walking in the woods." At the moment I'm four inches out of line, as a 20 inch cuff is absolutely necessary to minimize the length and breadth of my underpinning.

* * *

RAIN suits—here's something a little out of the ordinary. . . . You won't slip into a water-proof coat to foil the showers this year—you'll don a rain-proof suit. . . . It looks just like any other suit, separate coat and trousers (I forgot to notice whether the pants have pleats or not). Equally recommended for town or country.

Cravats . . . the newest thing straight and narrow, like the path you're supposed to walk, and they've made it narrow because that permits more of your shirt front to be seen. . . . It seems one's shirt should be seen. . . . Therefore, cuffs will be long, too, protruding an inch to an inch and a quarter beyond the coat sleeve.

Shoes. . . . I was delighted to learn that pointed toes are on the wane and that big square or round-toed shoes will be in vogue. That puts me about 10 years ahead of Esquire. . . . An innovation will be a turf boot (ankle high) for country wear . . . This is designed for rough country.

* * *

EVENING wear. . . How do you think you will look in coral studs? And is your evening coat isn't double-breasted with side vents you aren't up to snuff.

Alpine note. . . . If you ski, you couldn't find a smarter color scheme than rust with a white coat, black boots with red laces and a white Tyrolean hat. . . . Bright blue is another good color for ski outfits.

Note: The trend in men's styles this year indicates a back-to-the-land urge, the five-day week, the inexpensive motor car, and an increase in excellent roads. (I didn't think this up by myself; they told me it indicates this.)

I learned a lot of other things, and I had a good time. Most of the people I saw were merchants from various sections of the nation getting an eyeful of what they'll have to sell for a while. I also saw a lot of fashion thieves. They're artists making hurried sketches of the new styles which they will speed along to their employers. Some of them perpetrate their artistic thefts furtively, while others boldly stand there and take notes. Nobody said anything about it, though several times I thought I saw a few dark looks. Style thieves are one of the nuisances you just have to expect.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

By HELEN WELSHIMER

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 7.

AT RONALD BIRRELL'S words, "I've met the girl I could marry," Judith retreated into the shadows of the long draperies at the bedroom window. She did not move too far away to overhear the conversation. Not that she wished to eavesdrop. But suddenly it was important to know about whom Ronald was speaking.

"May I ask who she is?" queried Marjorie.

"Certainly. She has brown eyes, flecked with gold, a tilted nose and curly brown hair. She's an aristocrat, high tempered, honest, fearless."

"From away?"

"No, from town."

"Do I know her?"

"It's possible."

Marjorie laughed softly. "Did you say all of this to warn me that you aren't in the running on the man-hunting tracks?"

"Not at all." He laughed, too. "I felt you were an understanding person."

Someone called Marjorie away. She made her apologies and left Ronald, standing by the balustrade, staring into the street. He turned and, though he did not raise his voice, it carried distinctly to Judy.

"Coast is clear, Judy Rogers Why not come out?"

She stepped through the window, reproach in her gaze.

"So Marjorie told you I was here."

"No, Marjorie never said a word. But you stepped to the balcony a while back, as the guests and family were dining. I arrived late and I happened to see you I watched through which window you returned, that's all But why aren't you at the party?"

"I'm not up to parties," she answered. "I'm resting."

"I see. Meantime, it just might happen that you are the girl of whom Marjorie spoke a while ago. She said this friend of her wants a job, and doesn't want to ask a favor of anyone in her own group, so she thought I might suggest something."

"Didn't I tell you I'm going to France?"

"You did, Judy, but you aren't. I gather I admire you for it. You're all right! And Judy . . ."

His voice faltered a little.

"Yes?"

"I meant the words you heard through the window Never forget."

He was tall wide-shouldered, lean and muscular. His hair was bright and crisp, his face was tanned, his profile was well—almost as good as Craig's Here there might be security. But she didn't love him.

"Better run I hear steps," he said, and she went back through her window.

* * *

But hours later, when she and Marjorie had talked for a long time, she lay in bed and thought. A little of Ronald More of Craig. There was a slender white ship, out there on the dark ocean, someplace on it were two people who loved each other very much. Would it always be this way? Would nothing ever again be important, because she had placed her heart in Craig's pocket, then forgotten to tell him that it was there?

Could you weave the warp of life and love closely through the years, then unravel it at a single gesture? She did not know.

She wakened in the morning to a confusing memory. Then the events of the past several days righted themselves. She was alone, hunting a job. She must hurry to the hotel and see if an agency had called.

But it was several days before one did. Then the executive sent her to an Eighth avenue address

"It's a firm which makes sports wear," she explained. "They need a model your size, to show size 14's before the out-of-town buyers. Better hurry right over. They need you."

* * *

Judy had lived in New York, off and on, for most of her 21 years. But she had never walked down Eighth avenue. It was an intersection, to her, which one crossed on the way to the North river where the ocean liners were anchored. So she felt that she trod in a strange land as she hurried down the crowded street.. Boys maneuvered small carts, filled with dresses, all alike, along the curb. Men had arms full of furs

The elevator that carried her to the seventh floor was slow and uncarpeted

Here, in a small room, a man in his shirt sleeves looked at her.

"Take off your hat," he said. Judy obeyed.

"Let me see your legs"

Judy flushed, then realized that the better his man's street and sport frocks and coats looked on her, the more sales' appeal they would have.

"The job is yours if you want it" the employer said, and smiled. It was a warm, friendly smile, that accepted her as a member of the firm.

"I'd like it very much," she answered, and smiled, too. "When do I start?"

"Now, if you want to. Had breakfast?"

"N-no." She didn't mean to tell him. She intended to pawn a necklace and buy some lunch.

"Neither have I. I'll order some for you when I send out for it."

* * *

Judy was taken to a crowded dressing room, told to remove her dress by the woman in charge of the half dozen models, and given a clean gingham smock. A few minutes later someone brought a small tray to her.

It held crisp toast, bacon, orange juice and a pot of coffee. The employer had not thrust his society upon her. He had been kind and remote at the same time. She was grateful.

Eating, Judy reflected that she had associated modeling with velvet carpets, low music, soft lights and flowers. She had thought only of the salons in the Fifties. Yet here, in this wholesale place, she had found kindliness. Maybe Ronald was right. People would be charitable if you met them half

The woman who had taken Judy to the dressing room returned with an arm load of dresses "A big buyer," she said. "Here I'll help you get ready."

All morning long Judy paraded in dresses. A blue one, a brown one, a black one, another blue, a tan, a rose, a brown again. When noon came, her back ached and her feet throbbed. She sat on a high stool and played with a sandwich which someone brought in.

"You'll get used to it," another girl told her. "Some days nobody comes. Other days we have a rush. But that buyer took several of your models. That means you know your stuff."

The day passed. Another one. Three, four, five. It was a week. The next one began.

* * *

Judy was too tired at night to care that she had vanished from her friends' sight. She saw in the social news that she had sailed for France to spend the fall and winter with her mother. She knew that her friends were relieved, because it would have been embarrassing to strike the right note of sympathy with a girl who had nothing now, not even a home.

One day she saw Ronald. It was raining and cold. Quite suddenly his red hair and wide shoulders loomed up in a crowd. He was walking briskly, head bent, brows drawn, as though trying to solve a problem. She moved to the inside of the sidewalk, and averted her head. When she was successful, she would see him. Not now.

Not even Marjorie knew where she was, for she had changed rooming places, and sent her former roommate a note, telling her she would get in touch with her later in the autumn.

But for a moment after Ronald had passed she was lonelier than she ever had been. Not only lonely, afraid. What did it matter? She would toss her pride down the wind and call to him.

HISTORIC BELL PEALS TRIBUTE TO CHAMBERLAIN

Thousands Acclaim Britain's Prime Minister on Arrival at London Airdrome.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—To a nation hysterical with joy over the sudden deliverance from the threat of war, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain came home from Munich this afternoon and found himself a national hero.

The famed Lutine bell of Lloyd's, used to tell of the fate of ships at sea and never for any other purpose, pealed out the moment the prime minister's airplane landed at Heston airdrome.

No statesman in the entire history of the empire ever had been accorded this honor—a recognition that the ship of state, foundering on the shoals of war, had been saved from disaster by his bold initiative.

'Only a Prelude.'

"Settlement of the Czechoslovakian problem," Chamberlain said, "which has now been achieved, is only the prelude to a large settlement in which all of Europe may find peace."

Waving his hat with schoolboy enthusiasm, Chamberlain added:

"And I want to thank the British people for what they have done."

He held before the crowd a copy of the Anglo-German peace declaration and exclaimed:

"You may have heard what this contains but I want to read it to you."

The prime minister then read out the entire declaration, with particular emphasis on the mutual desire of Germany and Great Britain never to go to war against one another again.

News that Chamberlain had signed a peace pact with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler before leaving Munich raised public enthusiasm over his solution of the Czechoslovak problem to an even higher pitch, and London turned out in a pageantry of welcome.

A huge crowd gathered at the airport gave him a rousing reception. The first to greet him was the Lord Chamberlain, who handed him a letter from King George thanking him for his work in behalf of peace.

Cabinet members, headed by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Dr. Ernst Kordt, German charge d'affaires, the lord mayor of London and representatives of the dominions formed the reception committee.

Thousands gathered at the entrance to the airdrome. Cars were parked double for a mile along the road leading to Heston. Two hundred Eton boys in their traditional black jackets, striped trousers and silk hats formed a guard of honor.

Whitehall was lined ten deep with thousands shouting and singing. The prime minister's car had to travel at a snail's pace to reach its destination.

Fall Display Week Closes Tomorrow With Apparel Day

Tomorrow will be the "last round-up" for Fall Display week, an annual merchandising event in which merchants display their new fall and winter stocks.

Saturday's display will be concentrated on fall wearing apparel for men, women, and children.

Winners in the hobby contests also will be announced tomorrow and the misspelled word contest will close. All entries must be turned in to the Retail Merchants' office in the Farmers' Bank building.

Each list of misspelled words must be accompanied by 25 words on "Why I Should Make It a Hobby to Shop in Mansfield."

RUSH TO BUY SWEEPS MARKET

Leading Stocks Jump $1 to $4 on News of Peace Plan.

NEW YORK—(INS)—A wave of buying swept the stock market at the opening today on news of Czech acceptance of the Munich peace plan.

Leading stocks jumped $1 to $4 a share in initial transactions and the ticker immediately fell 2 minutes behind.

Feature was huge blocks in leaders and delayed openings as congestion of buying orders forced specialists to suspend trading until they could straighten out their books.

INSTALL STATE LEGION OFFICERS

Gardner Becomes Vice Commander at Ceremonies Tomorrow.

R. B. Gardner of Mansfield, who was elected vice commander of the Ohio department, American Legion, this summer, will be installed at ceremonies tomorrow in Columbus.

Other officers to be seated are Eli A. Jensen, Springfield, department commander; Paul Gnau, Canton, treasurer, and Lewis Williams, Shaker Heights, chaplain.

Jensen will make appointments at a meeting of the department executive committee Sunday.

JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO MSGR. GOEBEL

parents of Msgr. Goebel. In his address, Msgr. Goebel related that he was the only one of nine priests of the diocese who was invested as domestic prelate at Toledo Wednesday who had both parents living and in attendance.

Wearing his purple prelate's robes, Msgr. Goebel received the plaudits of the city and congregation and then was presented with a purse by the reception chairman in behalf of parish members. In his response he expressed his appreciation for the co-operation he has received during his 15 years as pastor at St. Peter's.

Commending Msgr. Goebel for his willingness to work for the betterment of the city, Mayor Hunter described the Catholic church as the "trail blazer of Christianity in America."

"Msgr. Goebel's achievement and his rise to a place of honor in the church is in keeping with the history of the Catholic church," he said. The mayor pointed out that since the discovery of America and Catholic missions and churches have played a prominent part in the building of the nation.

A friend of Msgr. Goebel for many years and mayor of Mansfield when he came to the city in 1923, Brunner said "were the scholarly and practical principles of Msgr. Goebel observed in our economic life, there would be no controversy between capital and labor today."

"We are lucky to have such a man as Msgr. Goebel as a cornerstone in our community. His church represents a strong bulwark of our civilization," Brunner asserted.

"We meet here tonight to erect a monument to a great man, one who has brought honor to the city," Judge Huston said. "No one can put down on paper the value of such a man to a community, but we can feel the influence of his work and will benefit by it for years to come."

Urging parish members to recognize the value of a leader such as Msgr. Goebel, Mrs. McDermott outlined the material benefits he has given to the church and parish in his service in Mansfield as well as his assistance and leadership in organizing the various women's groups of the parish.

"The church rewards a job well done," said Bolin in reference to Msgr. Goebel's investiture as a domestic prelate. "The principles of the church apply to all men at all times, because truth remains unchanged."

"After 15 years here, I am convinced Mansfield is a good city to live in," Msgr. Goebel said in his response. "In life, push and ambition, I know of no city five times Mansfield's size which has the qualities to the same extent.

"Its people have a bigness of mind and heart not found everywhere."

Expressing his deep appreciation for the reception in his honor and the gift, Msgr. Goebel said with a smile, "But I wonder who they've been talking about here tonight. I would be conceited if I thought all of that was wrong with me."

A string quartet from Ashland comprised of Mrs. Jane Albright, Becky Albright, Mrs. Virginia Harrison and Mrs. Peggy Poorman presented musical numbers at the opening and close of the program. Selections also were given by St. Peter's Alumni Glee club.

A buffet lunch was served following the program by members of St. Rita's Sodality, assisted by St. Rose's Sodality under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Davis, president of the St. Rita's order.

pieces of territory roughly corresponding to the area he drew on his own map, but he is to occupy them over a period of seven days beginning Oct. 1 and (presumably this is to be done without fighting. In addition, an area to be defined the proposed international commission would be occupied by the German army by Oct. 10.

Demanded—Discharge at once of all Sudeten Germans from the army or police of the Czechoslovak state.

Granted—Discharge within four weeks of all now serving in the army or police "who may wish to be released."

Demanded — Immediate release by Czechoslovaks of all Sudeten German political prisoners.

Granted—Same, but with four-week time limit.

Demanded—Plebiscite by Nov. 25 in areas where Sudeten Germans are not obviously in the majority, voting to be carried out under the control of an international commission; settlement by German Czechoslovak or international commission of frontier operations arising from the plebiscite.

Granted — Plebiscite in territories to be determined by the international (French, British, German, Italian and Czechoslovak) commission. "International bodies" will occupy these areas until the plebiscite is over, which must not be later than the end of November.

Munich Agreement Hitler's Great Coup.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

MUNICH, Germany—(AP)—Adolf Hitler has effected the greatest coup of his career toward his dream of a great Germanic confederation, a Germany greater than that of the pre-war empire.

To hundreds of millions of simple, home-loving friendly folk in all countries the message "We give you peace" which came from yesterday's four-power conference was sufficient in itself.

To be spared the horrors of another war filled their cups to over-flowing.

But, with the Czechoslovak government agreeing to the Sudetenland cession plan, the four-power agreement has many and vital ramifications.

Indeed, some of them bid fair to create in the coming generation history that may surpass implications of the present decision against war.

How Situation Looks.

Hitler, having already gained Austria, has made a gigantic stride toward his Germanic confederation by which Nazis aspire to become a dominant power of Europe.

The war-born Czechoslovak republic gives up territory of industrial wealth, and may, therefore, be reduced to an ineffectual small state over which Germany can command economic supremacy.

The reduction in size and economic power of Czechoslovakia will materially weaken the powerful military machine France sponsored in eastern Europe as a safeguard against German aggression. That machine was the little entent—Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania.

Control of Balkans?

An over-lordship of Czechoslovakia would open the flood-gates for German economic control of the Balkans. It is an old dream of the former German kaiser more near than ever to reality.

Already, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece are friendly and rapidly becoming members of the German economic circle.

Rumania is outside that family, thus far, but Germany continues overtures there with her eyes on Rumanian oil.

The war danger finally has drawn together, at least for the time being, the great dictatorships and democracies of Europe, which long had been looking down their noses at one another and making nasty remarks.

Nothing heretofore, had eased this feeling. The peace conference may mark the beginning of a period of better relations and greater co-operation.

The conference, too, has provided a high point in a new type of diplomacy in which the heads of government do their own negotiating instead of entrusting affairs to underlings.

It is interesting to note that the democracies showed they, as well as dictators, could make decisions on the spot if necessary.

200,000 HAIL DUCE

ROME—(INS)— Returning from the Munich conference, Premier Benito Mussolini reached Rome shortly after 6 o'clock this evening.

A crowd of 200,000 greeted il duce at the railway station, cheering and shouting: "You have saved the peace of the world."

PLAN WELCOME FOR HITLER

BERLIN —(INS)— Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler will return to Berlin tomorrow morning, it was announced today. The government summoned the populace to a "rousing welcome."

HERE'S CHRONOLOGY OF CRISIS THAT THREATENED WORLD PEACE

(By United Press)

Chronology of the Czechoslovak minority crisis:

Sept. 12—Adolf Hitler at Nurnberg says Germany will aid Sudeten Germans with army if necessary.

Sept. 14—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announces he will fly to Berchtesgaden to confer with Hitler.

HITLER'S ADVANCE

BERLIN —(UP)— The step-by-step program under which Adolf Hitler has re-created greater Germany and put the third Reich on an equal footing with world powers:

January, 1933—Named Chancellor by President Paul Von Hindenberg.

March, 1933—Established Nazi dictatorship.

August, 1934—Proclaimed fuehrer—leader and chancellor of the Reich.

January, 1935 — Plebiscite returned the Saar district on French-German frontier to the Reich.

March, 1936—Re-militarized the Rhineland.

January, 1937 — Repudiated the "war guilt" clause of the Versailles treaty.

March, 1938—Annexed Austria (32,000 square miles; 6,700,000 population).

September, 1938—Annexed the Sudetenland of Czechoslovakia by international agreement effective October 1.

WOMAN GRANTED STAY BY COURT

Intervention By Minister Enables Her To Remain In City.

Intervention by a minister had apparently saved a colored woman from leaving the city today after she had been given 48 hours by the court Monday to do so, when convicted on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Minnie Morgan, whose address was not given, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Monday, which he suspended on the condition that she leave the city within 48 hours. She first took her plea to Mayor Claude M. Hunter who refused to intervene and then went back to the court with a minister and was granted a stay on condition of good behavior.

Judge Kalbfleisch said today that he had granted the woman's plea on the approval of Police Chief Meade K. Bates. Bates had posted an order in the deskroom today instructing officers to arrest her if the court's instructions were not followed.

OPENS QUARTERS

Colored Democratic Club Gets Ready For Fall Campaign.

The Richland county colored Democratic club will open its new headquarters Monday at 246 North Diamond street, Mose Haynes, chairman, announced today. At a meeting of the executive board last night, Shirley Harding was elected executive secretary.

The board also appointed a committee of three members to see Mayor Claude M. Hunter on a proposed low cost housing unit for the colored people. Members of the committee include Haynes, Reno Watson, and Edward Tillman.

HEADS SYNOD'S MISSION PAPER

Mansfield Woman Named Editor of 'Missionary Bulletin.'

Mrs. C. S. Izenour, 110 Helen avenue, was elected editor of the "Missionary Bulletin," synodical publication of the Women's Missionary society of the United Lutheran Church of America, at closing sessions of the society's 10th biennial meeting at Canton today.

The meeting opened Tuesday and was attended by representatives from the five Mansfield Lutheran churches. Mrs. Izenour is a member of St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Other officers elected were Mrs. J. H. Gilbert, Dayton, president; Mrs. Paul Knauss, Marion, vice president; Mrs. W. M. Brandt, Newark, recording secretary; Mrs. J. A. Fehr, Salem, statistical secretary, and Miss Carrie Sooke of Zanesville, treasurer.

HEADS CAMERA CLUB

SHELBY—Albert Barkdull was chosen president of the Amateur Camera club last night at the organization meeting held at the DeVito studio. Other officers elected included Wayne Carleton, vice president; Bob Sutter, secretary, and John Armstrong, treasurer. The group will meet Oct. 13 to complete organization plans.

SCHOOL BONDS RECEIVE OKAY, PUT ON MARKET

Board Asks Bids for First Time Today on $550,000 Building Issue.

Approved yesterday by the firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, Cleveland bond authorities, the Mansfield board of education's $550,000 bonds for school building purposes were placed on the market today.

The bonds, in $1,000 denomination and payable in 20 years, were advertised for the first time today. The board of education will accept bids for three weeks and bids will be opened Oct. 21, the same day the board is expected to award a contract for construction of a $25,000 shop addition at Senior high school.

Helps Finance Program.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will provide Mansfield's share of the $1,000,000 school building program which calls for the construction of two junior high schools, the Senior high shop addition, and modernization of the city's older elementary buildings.

A federal PWA grant for $450,000 will supplement the bond funds to finance the construction program.

While architects complete plans for the two junior high school buildings, board members and school officials anticipate a lull in their activities in behalf of the building program which started last spring and carried through two elections before the bond issue passed.

Construction of the shop addition, first unit in the building program, is expected to be under way by Oct. 29.

LIST OF JOBLESS DROPS IN OHIO

WPA Registers Decrease of From 60,000 to 42,000.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio Works Progress Administration reported today that its assignment list of persons awaiting WPA jobs had decreased from 60,000 to 42,000 in the last month.

Maurice Klynn, director of employment, said that 12,000 persons had been added to the pay roll in the same period, leaving a reduction of 6,000 in the waiting list attributable to improvement in business conditions.

The certification of new applicants for WPA jobs has dropped from 10,000 a month to 4,000 in the last six months.

GRANTED STAY

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio supreme court granted an indefinite stay of execution yesterday to Fred Mosley, Centerburg farmer scheduled to die Oct. 11 for the murder of his wife, after Mosley asked the court to review his case.

MEET SATURDAY

Young Democrats to Prepare for Opening of Campaign.

Ready to inaugurate the Democratic campaign in the county, the Richland County Young Democratic club will meet at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in common pleas courtroom at the courthouse, John F. Correll, club president, announced today.

Atty. John C. O'Donnell, county Democratic executive chairman, will be the principal speaker at the meeting, the first of the November campaign. The talks will follow a brief business session.

CITY FINDS 'WAY OUT' ON RELIEF

Temporary Solution to Fund Problem Uncovered in Credit Plan.

Marion D. Ward to prepare the necessary legislation approving the issuance of the notes for presentation to city council at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Officials hope that at least $60,000 in credits can be "dug up" to match the maximum amount allowed the city in state funds. Nist pointed out, however, that even with the maximum amount available, only relief bills to Oct. 1 can be paid.

Jammed Marion Welcomes Home 'Miss America'

When "Miss America, 1938" came back to her home town of Marion last night, she was given a welcome equal to that which greeted the late President Warren G. Harding when he returned to the neighboring town after having been elected president.

Mansfield was represented in the throng, estimated at 35,000, that jammed the streets by a uniformed patrol from Baku Grotto as well as a delegation of officers and members. The Grotto helped to sponsor the first contest in which Marilyn Meseke won and eventually led to her being chosen the "prettiest girl in America."

In the line of the big parade which included bands and drum corps and uniformed units from all over the state, was the drill team of grotto. The ceremonies were held at the Harding stadium, where the city of Marion presented her with a silver vanity set and business concerns heaped gifts upon her.

"Miss America," blond dance teacher, was scheduled to leave Marion today for Pittsburgh, to resume her theater engagements.

STREET SIGNS TO COME DOWN

Company Prepares to Refinish Faded Markers Without Cost Under Guarantee.

Those faded and illegible street signs which the city is going to have refinished without cost, are about to come down.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist announced today that a crew of workmen will start the job of removing the markers Monday, preparatory to shipping them back to the factory where they will be repainted.

The director explained that in order to inconvenience the public as little as possible during the operations that only a part of the 500 signs will be taken down at a time. When they are back in place others will be removed until the job is completed.

The markers will be sent to the Lyle Signs Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., from whom they were purchased three years ago and for which the city paid $2,500. The only cost to the city will be express charges as the company has agreed to refinish the markers without cost.

The agreement was entered into by former Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert, who brought to the company's attention the fact that the firm had guaranteed their product for five years.

BEGINS CLASSES

Friendly House Launches Fall, Winter Season Tomorrow.

Opening of five classes and groups at the Friendly House for the fall and winter season were announced today by Russell Gimbel, headworker at the settlement.

First of the new classes, the art and personality groups, get under way tomorrow. The art class meets at 1:30 p. m. and is in charge of Harry Devine, of Westinghouse. The personality class meets at 2 p. m.

The Friendly House Sunday school meets at 9:30 a. m. Sunday and is open to boys and girls in the settlement neighborhood only, and to those having no Sunday school or church affiliations, Gimbel said.

The first of the adult education and Americanization classes will be held Monday evening. This group will meet every Monday and Friday at 7 p. m. in the English room at the settlement and is in charge of Mrs. Rebecca Adams. A class in personal finance managing meets weekly beginning at 8 p. m. Monday and is in charge of Atty. James Hoffman.

100 MANSFIELD FIRMS TO JOIN IN U. S. RETAIL GROCERS WEEK

National Retail Growers' week, Oct. 10-15, will be a bright spot on the Mansfield calendar of events, according to plans announced today.

And it will be something more than just another "national week," with 100 independent retail grocers, wholesalers, and the News-Journal sponsoring it.

There will be two interesting contests for boys and girls of high school age, for which entry blanks must be secured from the grocers.

There will be local prizes and winners of the local contests will be entered in the national contests with $100 in cash as the top prize.

Contest for high school girls will be for the best list of items and materials for a well stocked, ideal pantry. There will be a list of basic items on the entry blank which will assist contestants.

The contest for boys entails some research work, which in itself will be interesting. It will be a 250-word essay on "America's Most Famous Grocery Clerks." The essay may be about one or two famous men who started as grocery clerks, or it may be a list of many famous men who once stood behind the grocery counter. Besides this contest the News-Journal will offer $25 in cash prizes for the best decorated display windows. Details for each contest will be announced later.

Last night plans for observing the week were announced at a party for approximately 300 grocery workers at the American Legion home at which the Durkee Foods company of Norwalk and the Bissman company of Mansfield were hosts. A buffet supper was served and motion pictures were shown.

WAR AVOIDED, BRITAIN, NAZIS SIGN NEW PACT

with one another again."

(The 1936 Anglo-German naval treaty limited Germany's naval tonnage to 35 per cent of that of Great Britain.)

"We are resolved that the method of consultation shall be the method adopted to deal with any other questions that may concern our two countries, and we are determined to continue our efforts to remove possible sources of difference and thus to contribute to assure the peace of Europe."

Leaves for London.

Premier Daladier of France also left Munich by plane, for Paris, at 7:20 p. m. (EST).

The commission was named early today and met briefly before flying to Berlin to complete an organization for supervising details of ceding Czechoslovakia's Sudeten German territory to Germany.

Members of Commission.

Named on the commission were Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin; Andre Francois Poncet, the French ambassador; Count Ernst Von Weiszaeker, German secretary of state, and Bernardo Attolico, Italian ambassador to Berlin, with the Czechoslovak minister to Berlin, Dr. Vojtech Mastny, likely to be the fifth member

They were to supervise the occupation of Sudetenland, the selection of areas to be occupied and those in which plebiscites are to be held, and to administer other details.

Details of the agreement, for delivering Czechoslovak territory to Germany within ten days, and for seeking adjustment within three months of demands of Hungary and Poland for Czechoslovak territory in which their minorities live, had been forwarded to Prague earlier in an effort to obtain the Czechoslovak government's endorsement of the plan.

The four strong men of Europe who accomplished the agreement, signed shortly before midnight, are Chamberlain, Daladier, Premier Mussolini of Italy and Hitler.

Premier Chamberlain visited Chancellor Hitler shortly after 11 a. m. to say farewell. Premier Mussolini left during the night.

Chamberlain Cheered Again.

Chamberlain smiled brightly and looked fresh despite the terrific strain through which he had passed. A crowd of friendly Germans gave him a warm greeting of "heils" as he left his hotel.

Chamberlain and Daladier undertook to urge the Czechoslovak government, not a party to the Munich agreement, to accept its plan for ending the danger of war over Czechoslovak Sudetenland where live the German-speaking Sudetens to whom Hitler pledged protection. Czechoslovakia agreed, unwillingly today.

The plan permits Hitler to send troops into Sudetenland gradually during the coming week, starting tomorrow, and provides for plebiscites in areas where German minorities are not clear, and for an international commission and police to handle the plebiscites.

France and Britain are to guarantee the borders of the remaining "rump" of the little nation at once. Italy and Germany would give similar guarantees after the Polish-Hungarian minorities question is settled.

The keynote of the Munich talks and the justification advanced for carving pieces for Germany, Poland and Hungary from the Czech body politic was Premier Daladier's comment.

"You must remember that we avoided a terrible war," he said.

Europe Sight in Relief.

Europeans all over the continent sighed in relief when they learned peace outweighed war on Munich's scales.

"To whom the credit for peace?" echoed a French official to a questioner. "To four men and the will of hundreds of millions."

JURY RETURNS 35 INDICTMENTS

Two of Secret True Bills Said to Involve Woman Driver Who Hit Two Boys.

Lancaster Boys' Industrial school three weeks ago.

The jury indicted W. P. Runyon, Mansfield, on a charge of driving past a standing school bus on route 13 south of Mansfield. Another indictment was returned against Harry Hatfield, Shelby, accusing him of a statutory offense involving his 17-year-old daughter.

Other true bills were returned against Frank Darling, charged with forgery; Emmett Heuberger, non-support of a minor child; Donald Blackledge, embezzlement; Jewell Harper and Guy Harris, operating a car without the owner's consent; Robert Hood and Ben Grubb, burglary of Fred Miller's restaurant on Orange street; Clayton McConkey, issuing a check with insufficient funds; Willard Sharpless, assault and battery; Lindsay Schafer, removing journal packing from B. and O. cars; Edwin Schmidt, obtaining property under false pretense; and Charles O Collins, issuing a check with insufficient funds.

Twelve of the prisoners who are held in the county jail will be arraigned before Judge C. H. Huston in common pleas court at 9 a. m., Saturday, Charles McKinley, court assignment clerk, said today. The others, who are out on bond or who have not yet been arrested on the indictments, will be brought before Judge Huston next week.

GETS $155,000 REA ALLOCATION

Farm Bureau Affiliate Receives Funds to Build Power Lines.

A $155,000 allocation of federal funds to build 140 miles of rural electric lines in Richland, Huron and Ashland counties had been made to the Firelands Electric Cooperative, Inc., a farm bureau affiliate at North Fairfield, dispatches from Washington said today.

The new lines would serve about 435 farm homes in northern Richland county, Huron and Ashland counties. The project had previously been allotted $100,000 to build 101 miles of lines to serve 275 customers and $5,000 for housewiring and plumbing installations.

Most of the lines already built are in Huron county, REA officials explained.

of public office those persons who are not capable.

"We need men who can say 'no' to selfish interests and men who can say 'no' to wrong, as well as they can say 'yes' to right."

Bricker, referring to Gov. Martin L. Davey's controversy with labor, called for an "adjustment of the labor situation so that labor will come in rather than stay out of Ohio."

Bricker's only direct reference to his Democratic opponent, Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, was when he said that "there is such a thing as party respensibility and when that party utterly fails in its duties, it has no foundation to come back and ask for another chance."

Bricker charged that Ohio was in a state of bankruptcy to the extent of $17,000,000 which he declared would run close to $25,000,000 by the end of the year.

Townsend pension plan sympathizers apparently drawn to the meeting by Walter B. Woodward of Bellville, Republican candidate for congress from the 17th district and a staunch Townsend plan supporter, cheered Bricker lustily when he said "Ohio needs a voice in affairs of the national government and it can be had by sending Walter B. Woodward and Bob Taft to Washington." Robert Taft of Cincinnati is the G. O. P. candidate for U. S. senator from Ohio.

Promises Townsend Pension.

Townsend club members gave Woodward a rousing round of applause when he stepped to the speaker's platform, and again when he closed by saying that "I'll get you a respectable annuity when you reach the age of 60—through the Townsend National Recovery plan."

It was his only reference to the Townsend plan during his speech in which he outlined "what I am opposed to."

Woodward said he was "bitterly opposed to a world court" and to the packing of the supreme court "by the president of the U. S. in order to suit his whims."

He said he was opposed to the Social Security bill and to any reciprocal tariff placed in the hands of the president "that is putting people out of work."

Woodward declared that the "most dangerous" issue that will "most certainly" come before the next congress was the government reorganization bill, to which he was opposed because it "will centralize power in the hands of the chief executive of the nation."

Referring to his veteran Democratic opponent, William A. Ashbrook, incumbent congressman, Woodward said: "I am for a soldiers pension at any time and I will go all the way to obtain pensions for those who fight the battles of this land. I'll do more than Bill Ashbrook has ever done for you, I'll go a great deal further by supporting the Townsend National Recovery plan."

Woodward was preceded to the platform by Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker of Akron, Republican nominee for chief justice of the state supreme court; Judge W. H. Hart of Alliance, nominee for the supreme court; P. H. Rogers, of Elyria, candidate for state senator from the 27th-29th district; Harry H. Maxwell, candidate for county representative; John B. Friday, Republican nominee for Richland county commissioner, and Paul M. Herbert, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, all of whom spoke briefly.

G. O. P. REFUSES TO CONSIDER PLAN TO REPUDIATE WOODWARD

An editorial suggestion of the Coshocton Tribune that 17 district Republicans repudiate Walter B. Woodward of Bellville, Townsend supporter and their candidate for congress, and vote for William A. Ashbrook, Democrat, won't be considered by district G. O. P. leaders, it was learned today.

Although party heads refuse to endorse the Townsend pension plan, they have pledged their support to Woodward as their congressional candidate with the hope that his Townsend following will draw enough votes from the Democratic ranks to defeat the veteran Ashbrook.

Woodward, who is making his first venture into poliitcs, defeated Philip Wolfe, Mansfield, and Col. Oliver H. Dockery, Newark, staunch Republicans, in the August primary.

Ralph M. Hardy, Richland county Republican executive chairman, said the county organization had endorsed Woodward "100 per cent," and had letters from chairmen of four other counties in the 17th district pledging their organizations' support to him. The letters were from J. Chester Ward, Knox county chairman, R. D. Merchant, Licking county, M. T. Scarborough, Ashland county, E. T. Humes, Delaware county.

Hardy had received no report from Coshocton county, the only other county in the district, and the county in which the anti-Woodward editorial originated.

Richland county party leaders pointed out that the adoption of the Townsend plan is only one of seven points in Woodward's platform, and added that they could see no reason to repudiate him because of his attitude on the pension question.

Party leaders admitted, however, that "a few Republicans have refused to support Woodward because of his Townsend affiliation."

WALKS TO DEATH

Mechanic Pays With Life for Killing Wife and Baby.

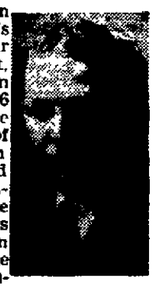
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.—(INS)—Henry Nolke, 32, a Boonville mechanic who killed his wife and baby because they wanted to go to the circus, walked calmly to his death in the electric chair at the state prison early today.

The double killing occurred in August, 1937. Nolke said he had been angered by the request of his wife, Rita, to buy tickets for the carnival for herself and their 22-months-old daughter.

Shaw's New Jewelry Store Celebrates 1st Anniversary

Open House and Special Sale to Feature Event

Shaw's Jewelery Store, which opened here September 30, 1937, celebrates its first anniversary tomorrow with open house and special offerings of merchandise bought for this event. During the year past the store has made thousands of friends due, according to Dave Green, (resident-owner) to its policy of accommodation and its effort to please and satisfy all who call.



Arden Oates

Arden Oates, in charge of Shaw's Watch Repair Department, came here from Kenton, Ohio, 6 months ago. He is a graduate of Kenton High School and teaches watchmaking for the State of Ohio's Rehabilitation Department. The state assigns students who receive practical training under Mr. Oates at the Shaw store.

"Dave" Green

The store does a large business in diamonds, watches, jewelry, radios, costume jewelry, lamps, locally manufactured electrical appliances, etc. The operating policy is to sell nationally advertised goods at nationally advertised prices at all times. The one price system prevails, whether goods are sold for cash or credit and if credit is desired it can be arranged without difficulty and with no interest or carrying charge. This, Mr. Green went on to explain, is because he has implicit faith in the future of Mansfield and in the integrity of its people. The store cheerfully makes the necessary arrangement of extended credit that will enable those who wish to enjoy the luxury of using and wearing the country's best merchandise. One innovation introduced by Shaw's is the offering of weekly specials for household use. Great care is employed in the selection of usable, quality items.

"Dave" Green, resident Company owner of Shaw's, has been in the jewelry business 24 years and has an extensive acquaintance in the Eastern and Central States. Mr. Green and family reside in Mansfield. His son attends the John Simpson Junior High School. Mr. Green is a member of the American Legion and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Esther Helen Pfaff

Esther Helen Pfaff is bookkeeper for the firm. She was born in Mansfield and resides with her parents. She graduated from Mansfield High School and is an Alpha Phi Sigma.

Dr. A. Turner, Optometrist, conducts his own business, having an office in Shaw's Store. Dr. Turner graduated from Ohio State University School of Applied Optics. He has an extensive practice in Mansfield built up during the last year. Dr. Turner has a souvenir for every visitor to the store during the month. He is a member of F. O. E.

Dr. A. Turner

The store was remodeled in June of this year to facilitate easier handling of merchandise. Fall and Christmas stocks are arriving daily and will be put on sale Anniversary Day. One of the features of the Anniversary Sale is the inauguration of Shaw's Christmas Layaway Plan, by which it is possible to select now, the gifts you will want Christmas. The diamond importers employed by Shaw are considered the best in the business and the store has on hand at all times a fine selection of both foreign and domestic cuts. The firm is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association. They are also members of one of the largest buying syndicates in the business.

Albert Hartman

Albert E. Hartman was born in Mansfield and graduated from Mansfield High School. He has been employed in the jewelry business in Mansfield since graduation and is now Assistant Manager of Shaw's. Mr. Hartman has a wide local acquaintance, having always been active here in business as well as social circles.

Lehman Runs for N. Y. Governor Again to Oppose Dewey

BOWS TO DEM PRESSURE FOR STRONG TICKET

Governor Surrenders Hopes for Senate Seat to Be Foe of 'Racket Buster.'

(By International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Setting the stage for a rip-roaring fall campaign, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today consented to stand for a fourth term as Democratic nominee for governor against District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York City.

Lehman's reluctant assent was wrung from him by the pleadings of Democratic leaders less than 24 hours after the Republican convention at Saratoga Springs had selected Dewey as the 1938 GOP candidate.

Fourth Candidacy.

It will mark Lehman's fourth entry as a gubernatorial candidate, after two successive terms, he announced in 1936 that he would not run again but, during the Democratic national convention in that year, finally agreed to make the race once more to aid the national ticket in New York state.

Like Dewey, who exacted concessions in the party platform and the selection of his running mates, the governor also insisted upon the nomination of State Supreme Court Justice Charles Poletti for lieutenant-governor to replace Lieut. Gov. M. William Bray. Governor Lehman also was represented as having dictated a platform plank pointing to the achievement of a balanced budget under his administration.

In bowing to the demands of party leaders, the governor foreswore his personal aspiration to succeed the late Senator Royal S. Copeland for the abbreviated U. S. senate term. Nomination for this contest will go to Rep. James M. Mead of Buffalo.

'POLITICS WORST RACKET'

(By International News Service)

SARTAGO SPRINGS, N. Y. — Into the hands of youthful Thomas E. Dewey today went the task of carrying the Republican party to victory in President Roosevelt's home state for the first time since 1922.

Accepting the Republican gubernatorial nomination the New York district attorney assailed Tammany Hall and informed convention delegates that politics has become "the biggest racket of them all." He emphasized that the breaking up of an "alliance" between crime and politics would be his aim of elected governor.

Hysterical Paris Booms Greeting to Premier Daladier

PARIS—(INS)—Scenes unparalleled since the May evening when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh dropped down from the skies 11 years ago were enacted today when Premier Edouard Daladier landed at Le Bourget air field from Munich and found himself the idol of France.

Thousands of hysterical men and women fought their way through police lines to reach the premier's side and hail him as a saviour of peace.

Deafening shouts of "Vive Daladier" and "Vive La Paix" told of French relief that the premier's participation in the four-power conference at Munich had played such an important part in pulling Europe back from the brink of war.

So overcome with emotion that for a time he could not speak and was able to acknowledge the tribute only with a smile and tears, Daladier finally stepped before a microphone and told the people of France that the Munich agreement had saved the peace of Europe.

"We shall now try to solve other European problems," he said. "I want to thank France for its discipline and calm in the crisis that has now ended."

The reception accorded Daladier by the populace was as spontaneous as it was noisy. Fully 200,000 persons jammed Le Bourget, standing 20 deep around the railing alongside the runway.

Charleston Hunts More Victims of Twister

Up and Down THE STREET

When Henry Cunning, Mansfield's flying postman told "Jim" Farley that he didn't go for "that rubber stamp" signature that was on his certificate for flying the mail to Cleveland last May during the postmaster general's brief stop in the city Tuesday, Cunning didn't know that he was in for a surprise. Yesterday he received a brand new certificate with the "big boss'" signature in ink for "Transporting the mails with certainty, celerity and security."

* * *

Patrolman Frend C. Boals' "fan" mail, according to brother officers at police headquarters, is increasing steadily since the story of "Safety Town" won national circulation several weeks ago. Inquiries about the safety program for pre-school children have already been received from as far west as Chicago, by a national safety magazine while other requests have come from various schools in the east.

* * *

In much the same way that a daily newspaper keeps its readers informed on world happenings, "The Hyphonerian," student newspaper at Senior High school is keeping students and faculty members informed on developments in the present European situation. A radio has been installed in the Hypho's newsroom, and as important news flashes are broadcast, members of the paper's staff prepare short bulletins and paste them on a special bulletin board on the first floor in front of the main office.

* * *

A strange coincidence of the "storm over New England" is that two Mansfield parties, members of which knew each other, were stranded in the same inn, in the same little town, at the same time and neither knew it until they returned to Mansfield, and then they learned it through The News-Journal. Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Backenstos, 115 Maple street, were marooned at Bethel, Me., the night of the hurricane, at the Beth Haven Inn. The Charles Craig party was at the same inn. When Mr. Craig and his party were in the candle-lighted dining room he said: "That man across the room looks like Perry Backenstos of Mansfield." The Backenstos party remained in the living room throughout the night while the Craigs retired to their rooms. Both left the next day without seeing each other.

STROKE FATAL

A. W. Van Sweringen, 71, Special Ashland Policeman, Dies.

ASHLAND — Alvi W. Van Sweringen, 71, special duty policeman here, died Thursday at his home following a stroke suffered Tuesday.

Born Feb. 17, 1857, he had been a resident of Ashland county for the past 55 years. He was employed by the city as a special duty policeman for the high school and city parking lots. Mr. Van Sweringen was a member of the Presbyterian church, a charter member of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics and the Sons of Union Veterans.

Surviving are his wife, Emma; two sons, Tracie of Detroit, and Raymond of Mansfield; a daughter, Mrs. Helen M. Richter of Mansfield; a step-son Ivan Chandler of Ashland, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday at the Heyl funeral home with Rev. H. E. Andrews, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

STEELMEN HEAR GIRDLER'S PLEA

Industry Must Show Ability to Earn Fair Return for Capital, He Says.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — T. M. Girdler, Republic Steel corporation chairman, left today with the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers an assertion that the steel industry, to attract capital indefinitely, must demonstrate "it's ability to earn a fair return on capital investment."

Girdler, president of the American Iron and Steel institute, said in a convention banquet address last night that "steel has been able to do very little for the people whose savings make its very existence possible."

"A study of the earnings of the industry over a period of nearly three decades," Girdler said . . . "shows that in the 10-year period from 1910 through 1919 the annual average return of investment was eight per cent. From 1920 through 1930 it was 5.5 per cent, and from 1930 through the first half of 1938 the average annual return was only 1.5 per cent."

He added that despite this the industry is accused of "price fixing, extortion and monopoly."

"I fear the real criticism of the industry is that it has failed to earn a reasonable return on the capital invested in the business," Girdler asserted.

CHINA'S FIRST PREMIER SLAIN

'Friendly' Callers Pull Hatchets From Scrolls, Strike.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Tang Shao-Yi, former Chinese revolutionary leader and first premier of the Chinese republic, died today after an operation to remove a hatchet buried in his skull.

Three assailants gained entrance to the home of the 78-year-old retired official on the pretext that they were presenting him with honorary scrolls. They pulled hatchets from the scrolls and attacked him.

Recently there have been rumors in Shanghai that Tang, one of the first American educated Chinese, was negotiating with Japanese for a possible connection with a Japanese-sponsored government, but such rumors have been denied.

GASOLINE DEALERS TO SPONSOR CITY'S HALLOWEEN CELEBRATION

Mansfield's traditional Halloween celebration, started many years ago by the late Fred Hunt, will be carried on this year on Oct. 31 under the sponsorship of the Gasoline Retailers association, Thomas Butts, president of the association, announced today. L. B. Hargerman, manager of the group, has been named general chairman of the event.

It will be carried out in much the same manner that has characterized Mansfield's gala celebration on Halloween for more than a quarter of a century, Butts said. There will be a parade of bands, floats, vehicles and masked characters, with prizes offered in various classifications. A reviewing stand will be set up at Central park.

The association will take over three dance places for that night, the Grosvenor, Delano hall and the Moose dance floor. Tickets, which are good for any of these places, will be sold by filling stations throughout the city.

The parade will form at Bowman and Park avenue west and will start at 7:30 p. m.

Funds for the celebration are being contributed by Mansfield businessmen.

DIE TOGETHER

Willard Sisters Stricken Today at Almost Same Time.

WILLARD—Two Willard sisters, Mrs. Dora Thompson, 64, and Mrs. Ethel Brindle, 54, died here this morning in Municipal hospital within a period of 10 minutes.

Mrs. Thompson died at 11:05 a. m., and Mrs. Brindle died 10 minutes later at 11:15 a. m. Mrs. Thompson was admitted to the hospital last Sunday. Death was due to a streptococcic infection of the throat. Mrs. Brindle had been in poor health for some time, and was admitted to the hospital about a week ago.

Both were born in Willard, and spent most of their life here. Both were members of the United Brethren church, and Mrs. Thompson was a district officer in the Maccabee lodge.

Mrs. Brindle is survived by her husband, George; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Ehrman of Willard; a son, Theodore of Sandusky, and one grandchild. Mrs. Thompson is the widow of the late Scott Thompson.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

NEW SAWYER AID LOSES STATE JOB

Ax Falls 24 Hours After He Gets Campaign Post.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Frederick G Seibel, Columbus, lost his job in the highway department today, less than 24 hours after his appointment as director of nationality groups for the campaign of Charles Sawyer, Democratic nominee for governor.

Seibel, who was an investigator at an annual salary of $2,400, received notice of dismissal almost immediately after news of his appointment to the campaign post appeared in Columbus newspapers.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

ESTIMATES LOSS TO PROPERTY AT THREE MILLIONS

Bodies of 26 Recovered, 200 Others Injured; Soldiers, Marines Patrol Area.

(By Associated Press)

CHARLESTON, S. C.—This historic city by the sea dug out today from the wreckage strewn by a raging tornado, and counted the storm's toll at 26 dead, 200 injured, some seriously, and property damage estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

Four companies of state militia, augmented by soldiers from nearby Fort Moultrie and Marines from the navy yard, aided civilian authorities in patrolling the debris-covered streets, along which many of the city's famous landmarks were destroyed or damaged.

Work All Night.

Fourteen of the dead were white, and 12 were colored.

All through the night searchers pulled away at the wreckage of buildings, looking for more bodies. All but three of the dead were identified.

The Red Cross, in a preliminary check, reported 72 houses were demolished and 45 were damaged to such an extent that no one could live in them. The relief agency reported 92 houses were slightly damaged but were still occupied.

Hospitals listed 53 of the injured as seriously hurt.

Meterologists said three separate twisters hit the vicinity of Charleston in quick succession. The first and third swept across the outskirts and did little damage.

It was the second one, roaring across the city in little more than a minute that wreaked the havoc. The municipal power plant was thrown out of commission for hours and hampered rescue workers as darkness fell and there were no lights available. Even newspapers were unable to operate until late in the evening.

Among the buildings damaged were St. Michael's church, the French Protestant church erected in 1681, St. Phillips Episcopal church, built in 1670 and the 100-year-old city hall.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Fear of Bombing Strikes On Both Sides In Event The World Goes to War

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Once there was a colored boy matched to fight a white boy, and just before ring time the manager of the white boy stepped into the colored boy's dressing room to search his bandages and pass the time of night. After a few pleasant remarks he began to tell the colored boy of the terrible punching power of his boy, of the awful punishment he would deliver downstairs and the pitiful hulks of once-promising men he had left in his wake.

The colored boy sat on the slab, swinging his legs, his bandaged hands in his lap, and listened respectfully until the white boy's manager had said his piece. Then, as the visitor was leaving with a cheery "Good luck!" the colored boy called him back.

"Just one thing I want to ask," he said. "I just want to ask what you think I'm goin' to be doin' while your boy doin' all that—readin' a book?"

* * *

That seems a pertinent question in reply to the terrible predictions of bombing and shelling against the allies in this next war with the Germans and possibly the Italians, whether it starts now or later.

Because the last time they fought the British were still in the bow-and-arrow era of warfare, with one machine gun to a battalion and a stubborn belief in the efficacy of shrapnel against concrete, which was about as useful as bird shot against battleships. They were paunchy and complacent, their civilians always had thought of the army as an off-the-street club for the lower classes and drunken sons of the aristocracy, and it took them almost two years to adopt conscription fully.

* * *

They undoubtedly are soft again in the military sense, except at sea, and their aviation and that of France, by all accounts, is very inferior to that of the Germans. But the British didn't begin to fight that time until they had come off the floor half a dozen times blowing blood off their lips, and they still have the same staying power, moral and physical, that they had in those days, in addition to a fresh recollection of the mistakes and terrible delays that punished them so badly before.

While the Germans are bombing London and Paris and Prague and the Italians and Germans are doing carnage and shattering cities in France what will the French and British and Czechoslovaks, and perhaps even the bashful Russians, be doing? Reading a book?

* * *

The economic side constitutes another problem, but certainly the Germans and Italians can have no advantage there. They have been offering their poverty as one of the excuses for their predatory conduct, and the very best that can be said for their position is that they may have enough to see them through a quick one.

But what is there to bolster the assumption that a German or Italian city cannot be blown lopsided by bombs from the air, that their people are mose steady under punishment in the civilian areas than the British, French and Czechs?

Let it be admitted that the British and French never did like air raids and that the Czechs, too, will bleed if cut and die if gassed or blown to tatters. Are there any people who do like to be bombed? Or who can take it any more staunchly than the British, in particular, took it during moonlight raids on London when the doormen and bobbies at some of the London night clubs had to stand guard to prevent brash, if silly, young bucks in officers' uniforms and their girl friends from dashing out into the streets to chance it as though the shrapnel from the guns and the bombs from the planes were nothing more than the gentle rain from heaven?

* * *

Are the Germans and Italians now people so stoutly nerved and sturdily built that they will be neither perturbed nor physically hurt if and when the enemy planes fly over, and has this miracle been wrought by the mere hokum of oratory and hysteria?

All the experts who have written about the Spanish war admit that the bombers, although they have done damage in spots which was horrible to behold, have been unable to live up to their billing, even though the rebels have had a great advantage in ships. And although the warfare from the air will be much greater in a big war, the Germans and Italians cannot expect to have quite the same proportionate advantage in power. They will have to take it, too, and their countries have their great vital giblets and tripes, their power plants, sewers, reservoirs and all, the same as the allied nations.

The American hoodlum of the prohibition era used to speak of a gun as an equalizer, which was a quaint way of expressing the truth that, six-foot Prussian or scrawny cockney, a bullet's as big as a man.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If Jack Oakie and RKO can't agree on his further service in the continued "Adventures of Annabelle," you can look for Jack Carson, the former Kansas City M. C., to get the bid. . . . He earned it, anyway, with his job in "Carefree." . . . Oakie, who'd planned his first trip abroad, must put it off to do "Thanks for Everything" at 20th.

Two of the musicians on that Paul Whiteman list of master swingsters are Matty Malneck (violin) and Manny Klein (trumpet). . . . The pair are together in a new swing band hired several weeks ago for "St. Louis Blues," from the set of which a new type of swing that is both hot AND sweet gives out. . . . Organized three months ago, the picture is the band's first engagement. . . .

"Hold That Coed," the new pigskin musical, is set on keeping you from drawing conclusions about the character John Barrymore plays—a senatorial candidate who takes over a college and its football team. . . . So set, in fact, that the first team the mythical college squad plays is Louisiana State! . . . The movie college is located in the "mid-west" in newspaper headlines—but Joan Davis, the girl gridder, has a line: "Let me take the ball—no southern gentleman would think of tackling a lady!"

* * *

GINGER ROGERS toured California, as Miss Virginia McMath, and didn't get herself recognized. . . . Now Cary Grant is taking bets. . . . After "Gunga Din" he's visiting England and he pays off if he's spotted or photographed before he gets there. . . . Look for a tall, sunburned gent with a mustache and a blond hairpiece —and you'll cost Grant money.

What "Marie Antoinette" really cost Metro, if you care, was $2,878,000. . . . And "Love Finds Andy Hardy" cost less than $300,000. . . . Guess which they're worried about!

In "Three Loves Has Nancy" you'll see a new type of Janet Gaynor—and a thin, tired-looking Franchot Tone. . . . Ought to be a couplet here about Tone-sans-Joan, but I'm tired too.

Reporting a miracle: Conrad Nagel, fiancee Joan Fontaine, and Olivia DeHavilland were munching in the Brown Derby when an autographobiac approached Nagel, overlooking the currently famous sisters. . . . Nagel protested the oversight, said: "But don't you know these young ladies?" . . . "No," said fan, "unless that one (Olivia) is Anne Shirley."

* * *

AFTER making only two sports features, Producer Jerry Hoffman complains, he already has athlete's foot. . . . Florence Enright, studio dramatic coach, has done things to Dorris Bowdon's Dixie drawl and her former schoolmates at La. State will think she's being voice-doubled when they see her in "Down On the Farm" with the Jones Family. . . . George O'Brien, a movie cowboy these eight years, is just now getting around to his first ranch—360 acres in the Malibu hills.

"What A Life!" finally has been bought for pictures. . . . Paramount got this New York hit about high school kids—and it's a show that's such a screen "natural" it could be filmed almost as is.

Marriages Decrease Over Country

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

In spite of everything—coming-out parties, greater freedom with which young people become acquainted, the extinction of the chaperon, beauty parlors on every corner—it seems to become increasingly difficult to get married.

In New York, up-state marriages in July totaled 3,000 less than during the same period of the preceding year. The decrease is attributed largely to the new law, which became effective July 1, requiring pre-marital health examinations.

Maryland is one of the states that has no three-day law, the result of which is that most famous of Gretna Greens—Elkton. Not so long ago a young couple motoring through Elkton was likely to be accosted by a "car-hop," who would inquire if they were looking for a parson. Sign-boards a yard square informed the passerby that marrying was done within, and eager-eyed individuals, peering from a front door-stoop, were ready to bless all and sundry.

"Gin marriages" flourished in Elkton until the question arose: Didn't the attendant wisecracks affect real estate values? Solid citizens (there are any number of them in Elkton) began to register virtuous objections to hit-and-run marriages.

In spite of European dictators demanding more marriages in the interests of larger populations and more soldiers for wars, often they put spokes in the wedding wheels by failure to grasp the sway of tradition on the part of their subjects.

"Marriage is an affair of state," proclaimed Hans Frank, head of the Nazi legal organization in Nurnburg, but what Herr Frank failed to grasp is that a number of young girls in Austria and Bavaria have refused to marry unless their vows have the sanction of a religious ceremony. So, between dictators abroad and stumbling blocks at home, Cupid finds the marriage problem tough sledding.

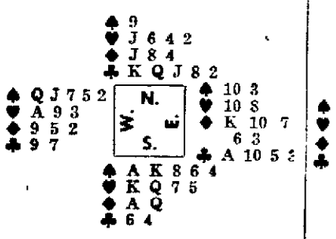
"The Authority on Authorities"

SHOW YOUR PREFERENCE

IF YOU HAVE raised one of your partner's two major suits and he then bids no trump, he means to be telling you two things. First, he has some kind of stoppers in any unbid suit or suits. Second, the suit you raised is not very good, probably only a four-carder. He wants you to leave the no trump in if you have a balanced hand, or if you have only three of his trumps. But if you have four trumps and shortage anywhere in the hand, switch the contract to his suit.



(Dealer: East East-West vulnerable.)

This deal came up in a duplicate tournament and at the majority of tables North and South reached a contract of 4-Hearts. These players made five, with the loss of the club A and trump A.

At two tables the bidding was the same as at other tables up to a certain point, South having started with 1-Spade, North 2-Clubs, South 2-Hearts, North 3-Hearts and South 3-No Trump These North players incorrectly let the bid stand there instead of going 4-Hearts.

Where the spade 5 was led against 3-No Trump the declarer had no difficulty in making his contract, but the other West defender against 3-No Trump led the unbid suit—the diamond 9—and by so doing defeated the contract. The diamond 9 was taken with the Q and a club led. The A won and a diamond was returned to the A. When the heart A was driven out, three other diamond tricks were taken, setting the contract one.

If purchased trees or shrubs are properly handled by the nurserymen they will come to you with balls of earth around the roots and the earth wrapped with burlap. If they come any other way you should file a prompt protest, for the chances are that the plants will not thrive even if they do not promptly die.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I know," I said with a shiver as Dicky said that when Philip Veritzen heard from his "espionage groups" at the hotel that I had left with Mary for an unknown address for two days, I would have "some tall explaining to do."

"What's the matter?" Dicky asked in quick, sympathetic response to the shiver. "Afraid of that big tarantula? Look here! If you let that 'beeg piece of limburger', as Katie would say, get you jittery, I'll move into action with a hickory switch and give you something to be jittery for before I begin on him and slice him into pieces of butter. Do you hear me?"

"I hear you," I said, when I could control my laughter at his nonsense, "and I'll think no more about Philip Veritzen, Esquire—until I have to."

"Here's hoping that day will never come," Dicky said lightly, but I knew that the words were not as idle as they sounded. And now that we've solved all the affairs of the universe, don't you think you would better reel in your fishing lines so we can get going?"

"An excellent idea," I told him, and he caught me to him with a tender, impetuous kiss.

"I'm not going to forget your coming up with me tonight," he said, and there was a little song in my heart, despite my worry about him, as I left him.

Noel not only approved the plan but was palpably thrilled by it, and he meticulously wrote down the names Dicky had suggested, and instructions for what he was to do when he went to the hotel.

"As I understand it," he said at last, "I'm to go directly to the hotel as soon as I reach the city, and stay there until you and Mary come over. When will that be?"

"That depends upon Hank and Bill," I said. "If they stay over tomorrow night, we shall not come to you until the next forenoon. If they go back tomorrow, we shall be with you in the late afternoon tomorrow. But if we don't get there for 24 hours, you look as if you could use an unlimited amount of sleep."

"I'm dead on my feet," he confessed. "But, of course, I'd sacrifice any amount of sleep in order to see Mary as early as possible."

"That you shall do anyway," I told him. "We shall come to you the first minute we're free. And now lie down until we're ready to start."

With a sudden inspiration I went to Lillian's room, knowing that Harry and Dicky were having a last smoke and confab in the library.

"Will you see that Harry is in the offing tomorrow morning when Junior and Roderick awaken?" I asked her, and she looked at me with shrewdness and sympathy in her eyes.

No Thanks Wanted.

"Tough," she commented "Don't I know? But don't you worry, Harry'll be on deck, and he'll put on an act that will make any small boy forget he ever had parents. And now, let me impress on you once again that I want a special delivery report on everything that happens 'appertaining to' this mess of Dicky's, and be ready to receive me when I come up for that scheduled rendezvous in the restaurant. I have the date down, and I'll be along the day before to make my preparations."

She smiled cryptically, and again I wondered if her mind and Mary's were not working along the same lines

"I'll attend to every little detail," I told her, "and—and—I guess you know without my telling you how grateful—"

"If you ever use that word again, I'll strangle you," she said. "There's no such word between you and me And, for the love of Allah, stop your worrying. If I don't clean up whatever mess this is that Dicky's in, I'm going to hand in my card from the Mopperups union Get along with you! If you're going to the city you'd better be on your way."

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

WE ARRANGED to take time of tonight to discuss our proposed party. Consuelo begged off rehearsal, and I told Madame that I wanted to leave the shop early. So, for the first since we arrived home, we had a nice cozy supper in the apartment. Ella outdid herself and served all our favorite dishes. We got into comfy house robes and then sat around just talking.

Consuelo is planning a big party, an afternoon party that will go on until evening. She is having the same caterer who did her last party. The weather has been so nice lately that perhaps some of the guests may be able to be out on the terrace It will be nice to see people again. I asked Madame if she would come and bring Howard, and she promised to be there. And the charming little bride-to-be I mentioned recently is coming, too.

Saw Her In Shop.

I saw her in the shop today when she came in to talk about her wedding gown and trousseau. We happened to speak about Consuelo and she told me how anxious she was to meet her, how she had always admired her, so I asked her if she wouldn't be nice enough to honor our party with her presence I just did it to be polite, never dreaming that she would accept the invitation. But she took it up at once and asked if she couldn't bring her fiance as well Of course, I was delighted and told her that I could speak for Consuelo in expressing our pride and happiness at her presence. You see, she is one of the richest and best-known girls in society. But more than that, she is a fine person. And I am happy that she is marrying a nice American boy instead of one of those titled fortune hunters.

Beaver-Trimmed Suit.

Bill Still Away.

I don't think Bill will be back in time for the party I called his office this noon and they told me that it is unlikely that he will be back for some time. My nice playwright isn't back either, so it doesn't look as though I am going to have any of my men friends at our party.

Beaver-trimmed tweed suits seem to be the favorite fashion in our junior-deb department Here is a beauty, a suit in gold and brown-striped tweed. Decorative seaming outlines the beaver which borders the high pockets. The single-breasted jacket with self-buttons has a beaver collar and cuffs. There is a slight flare to the skirt which has two side pleats and one center pleat. A golden yellow chiffon jersey blouse is worn with it.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, October 1.

THE AUGURIES for this day are rather adverse, with signs of difficulties in employment, with superiors, in business as well as in purely social relations. There may be loss, treachery, duplicity, with subtle feminine influence at the root of misadventure and misery. It would be well to be alert to this as well as to contacts with strangers. Some treacherous undercurrents may have to come to the surface, but be cautious.

Those whose birthday it is have need for much wisdom and circumspect action during the year, as they are beset by peculiar, erratic or doubtful alliances both in business and in intimate associations. Particular discretion is enjoined in relations with women or with any strangers who may have very alluring or intriguing propositions Romance and adventure call for prudence.

A child born on this day may be active and adventurous, possibly erratic and wayward, getting into difficulties with superiors or adventurous or romantic women

New Recipes Popularize Fish Dishes

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Fish is growing in favor on the national menu. This summer restaurants and markets report that more fish were ordered and bought than in any previous year. This is one fish story that we can believe, and it is a good story, too. So, housewives, while friend husband is out at lake or brook or stream, how about casting your share of fresh, fine fish?

What goes with fish? What do you want? Boiled potatoes, adrip with butter, are a "must" with some, while others swear by tartar or hollandaise sauce. Cole slaw lends a healthful, crunchy note.

Now we go into our recipe role, starting off with our pet formula for cole slaw With three cups finely-shredded cabbage, use three-quarters cup canned grapefruit segments, one-quarter cup minced green pepper, one-half cup celery seed dressing Combine cabbage, green pepper and grapefruit, drained of juice. Mix with dressing, toss and serve. To make the dressing, combine one-half cup sugar, one-quarter cup vinegar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon dry mustard and one teaspoon paprika. Add cup of oil slowly, beating constantly. Add teaspoon celery seeds or celery salt; blend well.

Fish and fruit platter has been elected for our pet Friday dish. For four servings we use four small pan fish, two tomatoes, cut in halves crosswise, melted butter, salt and four peeled, firm bananas. Arrange fish and tomatoes on broiler rack. Brush tomatoes with melted butter and sprinkle with salt. Place rack about five inches below broiler and broil in very hot oven. Broil for six to eight minutes or until brown. Turn fish and place bananas, brushed with melted butter and sprinkled with salt, on broiler rack. Continue broiling about eight minutes longer or until bananas are tender and brown.

Tuna Fish Dish.

Canned tuna fish provides the base for a fish dish that is exotic and altogether delicious. Ingredients call for four tablespoons each butter and flour, three-quarters teaspoon salt, pepper, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, two cups milk, one cup ground Brazil nuts, two pimentos, one 13-ounce can of tun fish and six whole Brazil nuts. Melt butter, stir in flour and seasonings and, when well blended, add milk gradually. Add ground nuts. Cut six strips of pimento for garnishing and cut remaining pimento into small pieces; add to white sauce. Add flaked tuna fish; pour mixture into baking dish; arrange pimento strips and whole Brazil nuts on top and bakein moderate oven at 350 F. for 15 minutes.

Hollandaise sauce has many recipes, and this one, as made by the splendid cooks of the Pennsylvania Dutch, is always liked. The recipe calls for one-half cup butter, one tablespoon lemon juice, two egg yolks, one-quarter teaspoon salt, dash pepper and one-third cup boiling water. Divide butter into three parts. Put one piece with lemon juice and egg yolks in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly with wire whisk. As the butter melts, add a second piece. As mixture starts to thicken, add third piece. Add the water and cook for minute. Should mixture curdle, add two tablespoons boiling water, drop by drop.
